Election On Way —John D

STRATHROY, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker Thursday night declared opposition obstruction to the Commons has delayed the government's legislative program and a general election cannot be long delayed.

He recalled that it was in Strathroy April 5, 1957—exactly five years ago—that he opened his campaign for the June election of that year.

Mr. Diefenbaker told an overflow Conservative meeting here last night that the election would be held "in the very near future" and that "in the weeks to come" he would put his government's record before the people.

Her lifeboats hanging ready from davits, Chinook took on starboard list and water lapped around wheels of rear-most vehicles on car deck as receding tide left bow of vessel high and dry. Passengers were transferred through rear loading door to small boats and transferred again to Gabriola ferry Eena which took them to Nanaimo. Cars were turned over to their owners eight hours later.—(Pat O'Neil photo.)

Lifted by Tide Near Nanaimo

Grounded B.C. Ferry Limps Into Vancouver

NANAIMO—Listing slightly and travelling at reduced speed, the B.C. Toll Authority ferry Mv. Chinook limped into a Vancouver drydock late yesterday after a harrowing eight hours on the rocks two miles out of Nanaimo harbor.

Inward bound from Horseshoe Bay on the mainland and carrying 68 passengers, 21 cars and 10 trucks, the 4,000-ton former Black Ball vessel slammed into Snake Island at 9:37 a.m. in heavy fog.

Seconds before she hit and just as she approached the fog patch hanging outside Na-naimo her Vancouver skipper, Capt. Roy Barry had sharply reduced speed.

The Chinook struck on a falling tide and her position on the reef became precarious by the minute. Moderate seas increased her danger but the crew remained on board making preparations to get her off on the next flood.

There were no injuries among passengers or crew but the vessel was reported badly holed on her outer hull and with ruptured fuel tanks.

Passengers were transferred to small boats which sped to the scene from Nanaimo and most were put aboard the government-owned Gabriola Island ferry Eena and taken to the toll authority docks here.

RADAR REMOVED

Toll authority officials confirmed in Victoria yesterday that the Chinook's radar had been removed from the ship during a recent refit because it was defective and could not be repaired aboard the vessel.

While logs stood by at the rear of the tide about 5:20 p.m. the Chinook ground sluggishly into motion and backed off the treacherous reef under her own power and hailed the feat with three sharp toots on her whistle.

Most passengers agreed the grounding came without a violent shock. They sang high praise for the Chinook's captain and crew for their actions following the impact. Many considered the event a lark.

MOOD CHANGED

But their mood changed when a Nanaimo ferry official told them the toll authority would contribute nothing towards their welfare while they waited some eight hours for delivery of their still-stranded motor vehicles.

They were told they would have to pay their own meals. Said the official, "We fulfilled our commitment by landing you in Nanaimo—we are under no obligation to go any further."

UNUSUAL SITUATION

Speaking from Vancouver last night, government ferry service general manager Monty Aldous termed grounding of the Chinook "an unusual situation."

He said it probably won't happen again. The grounding had its lighter side, however.

SAFETY HERRICK

It completely broke up a shipboard session on marine safety being conducted by a ship's officer and 20 of her crew. The group had just completed an examination and certification were being handed out.

The examining officer had just handed me my certificate when the bump came," said crewman Val Scovill later.

The officer said what's

British 'Spy' Purge Likely

LONDON (Reuters)—

British newspapers greeted with banner headlines Thursday the disclosure that Communists and Communist sympathizers have infiltrated civil service organizations. (See earlier story, Page 8.)

Some of the newspapers forecast a large-scale shake-up in Britain's security system.

The disclosure was made by the Radcliffe committee, set up after Britain's 1951 spy trials to investigate public security procedures. It said there was a deliberate massing of Communist effort in civil service trade unions.

THE MENACE

The Evening News headlines the report "the menace of Russian spies in Britain" and claims: "Russian spies are at work in Britain and are a constant menace to our security."

The newspaper adds: "The committee's recommendations must lead to one of the biggest-ever shake-ups of the security system."

The Evening Standard calls it a "Whitehall spying report sensation — biggest ever purge-watch on Reds in the unions."

MORE PURGES

The newspaper reports: "The biggest-ever peace-time anti-spying operation is now on. There will be more purges among civil servants, more vetting screening and extraordinary new precautions in Whitehall."

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror, under the headline "Watch on the Union Reds," says the Radcliffe committee's report had been endorsed by the government for security reasons.

The Daily Telegraph and The Times also feature the report as their main story.

U.S. Has Hopes For Columbia After Election

Battle Smut Police Urged

City police should seek a conviction on a charge of selling obscene literature in Victoria, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said yesterday.

He made the recommendation in a letter to city health and morals committee.

"The city's hand would be much stronger if it were in a position to demonstrate that obscene literature was, in fact, being circulated through the mails," he wrote.

PROSECUTION USEFUL

"For this purpose I should think that a successful prosecution proving the existence of obscene literature in this city would be most useful."

At a recent meeting of the committee, Mr. O'Grady was asked to prepare a resolution aimed at the controlling of the sale of obscene literature to children.

PRIMARY DUTY

"The committee will be aware that it is an offence under the Criminal Code of Canada to sell obscene literature to any person whether adult or child and in my letter of Feb. 13 I drew to the attention of the committee that it was the primary responsibility of the local police to enforce the law in this connection."

Mr. O'Grady asked the committee to explain what action it desired through submission of the resolution to the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

WASHINGTON (CP)—

Brig.-Gen. William Lapsley, chief of the United States Army Engineers' North Pacific division, predicted Thursday the Columbia River controversy will be an issue in the next Canadian federal election and that "after that time we may have the issue settled."

He told a Senate subcommittee it is his understanding that the British Columbia Power Commission has undertaken some initial planning on the Columbia project and that to him indicated there is a good chance the Canada-U.S. treaty will go into operation once the political fight is over.

REASONABLE PERIOD

Lapsley told a reporter later he based his statements on informal information he received "and not as a principle in negotiations between the U.S. and Canadian governments."

Anticipating that a Canadian general election will be held before next March 28, Lapsley figured the treaty would be ratified in Canada within a "reasonable" period thereafter.

'Take It or Leave It' Kills Test-Ban Hope

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union's tough "take it or leave it" policy makes it impossible to conclude a nuclear test-ban treaty, United States Ambassador Arthur Dean said Thursday.

Dean told a three-power subcommittee meeting working on the test ban that negotiations are frozen but that the U.S. "is willing to wait hopefully" for a last-minute change in the Soviet attitude.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tuganov, countered with a charge that U.S. plans to resume atmospheric testing in mid-Pacific late this month "had made the position darker." He said the Kremlin is willing to accept a moratorium on all tests while negotiations here continue.

NEW SHOTS

The Soviet Union has said it would set off a new series of shots of its own if the U.S. series takes place.

Despite the complete disagreement blocking the three nuclear powers, their representatives agreed to meet again Monday afternoon for yet another effort to resolve the deadlock. The U.S., Britain and the Soviet Union are sitting together as a subcommittee of the 17-nation general disarmament conference.

FLOOD WITH SPIES

Basically the disagreement revolves around this issue: The U.S. and Britain insist that a treaty banning atomic and hydrogen weapons explosions must be enforced by an adequate international inspection and verification system.

The Soviet Union maintains such a system would flood Russian territory with spies. The Soviet delegation insists that existing national instrument systems are adequate to see that there is no cheating on a test ban.

Master 'Spy' Dies in U.K.

EASTBOURNE, England (Reuters)—Sir Percy Sillitoe, former head of the British Secret Service, died Thursday night.

Sillitoe, 73, was head of the service—known as MI-6—from 1946 until 1953.

He was described at the "No. 1 spy" and as "the most important politician in the world."

British Cigarette Ads Held to Late-Hour TV

LONDON (Reuters)—Five major British tobacco firms announced Thursday they will no longer advertise on television before 9 p.m. in order to discourage children from smoking.

The five firms, the Imperial Tobacco Company, Ardath, Gallagher, J. Wix and Sons and Godfrey Phillips also agreed to discuss with the government the question of removing public vending machines which make cigarettes available to children.

A sixth firm, Carreras Rothmans (U.K.), a subsidiary of Rembrandt Tobacco Company of South Africa, said it will withdraw its vending machines from streets and public places to prevent children from buying cigarettes.

British law forbids the sale of cigarettes to children under 16, but outdoor dispensing machines make the law virtually impossible to enforce.

Carreras Rothmans also said it will ensure its TV advertising is limited to times when children are least likely to be viewing.

The moves by the tobacco firms followed a report by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons last month that said cigarette smoking was a major cause of lung cancer. The report sparked a government campaign to discourage smoking by children.

Tobacco Advertising Faces Ban in Italy

ROME (Reuters)—The Italian parliament gave final approval Thursday night to a bill outlawing tobacco advertising.

The bill forbids advertising of "any form of tobacco for smoking" whether Italian or foreign.

Nation Has Right to Defence Judge Lectures Ban-Bomber

NEW YORK (AP)—A

magistrate told an anti-nuclear sit-down demonstrator Thursday the country has as much right as the individual to self defence.

"Would you defend yourself

if you were assaulted?" Magistrate Louis Cluff asked Carl Jacobs, 22, of Manhattan, a college student.

Jacobs said, "yes, but..." Cluff cut him off, saying "then why do you deny this right to your government?"

Lifting slightly to starboard and with her bottom plates ripped from grounding on rocky Snake Island (foreground) the B.C. Toll Authority vessel Mv. Move Rejected

Dutch Decide No Surrender

THE HAGUE (AP)—The Dutch government easily beat down Thursday an effort by the Labor party to promote surrender of West New Guinea to Indonesia, a militant claimant.

The lower house, backing arguments of Foreign Minister Luns, rejected Labor party motions for arrangements to transfer sovereignty over the Pacific island colony to the Indonesians and halt the shipment of Dutch military reinforcements.

U.S. EFFORT

The vote on each of the motions was identical, 99 to 47 against.

The parliamentary showdown came while the United States was trying to get Indonesia and The Netherlands to resume the secret, informal negotiations which broke off near Washington two weeks ago.

TALKS URGED

Dutch government sources said Ellsworth Bunker, the U.S. diplomat acting as third party, had submitted a proposed agenda and suggested that the talks begin again April 13.

Indonesian guerrilla forces were reported Thursday to be battling with Dutch troops near the oil town of Sorong on the northwest coast of West New Guinea.

Hotel Ship Picketed

SEATTLE (AP)—The first hotel ship for the Seattle world's fair arrived Thursday and was greeted with a picket line.

The pickets carried signs reading "Sa. Catala Unfair Sailors Union. Marine Firemen and Marine Cooks and Stewards."

Ed Coester, Seattle agent of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, said the dispute centres over the use of shore-side union members to staff the Catala. "If she floats, she's a ship," Coester said.

Blast Links Nations Beneath Snowy Alps

SAINT REMY, Italy (AP)—

Deep in the earth Italian and Swiss workers blasted away the last rock barrier of a new tunnel through the Alps Thursday.

Millions throughout Europe watched the blast on TV. The tunnel, when ready for traffic late next year, is expected to open a way for greater commerce, and European political unity.

The 3.7-mile tunnel passes under Grand St. Bernard Pass of the Mount Blanc chain between this Italian resort and Bourg St. Pierre, Switzerland.

Twelve miles west of here workers are digging the 6.8-mile Mount Blanc tunnel, expected to be ready next year.

The tunnels will give an easy route through the Alps in winter when regular Alpine passes are snowbound.

Red Bloc Rivalry Growing Says Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Rusk told Congress Thursday that there is "considerable evidence of deep differences" between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

He offered that view, under questioning as he called on Congress to pass President Kennedy's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid bill in the name of "the security of the free world today and the shape of the world tomorrow."

Rusk said the Soviet Union and Red China have differences both in direct relations between themselves and in rivalry for leadership of the Communist bloc.

He said there is some evidence that Moscow and Peking

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pravda told the Soviet people yesterday of what may be a major shift in Communist Chinese policy away from the ambitious "great leap forward."

The Soviet Communist party newspaper took the rare step of publishing an editorial from the Peking People's Daily setting forth the thesis that "one cannot attain victory in the fight against nature by a single leap."

The Communist Chinese

editorial technically dealt with the problems of hydro-engineering construction on China's Urumchi River.

But its whole theme was that in certain times and conditions it is better to attempt step-by-step progress in line with abilities rather than waste effort in a futile attempt for a speedy success.

The article appeared particularly significant in light of China's currently disastrous economic situation. This situation presumably is under intensive review at the National People's Congress now underway in Peking.

Pravda's publication of the article also indicated the importance which the Kremlin attached to it. The Soviets have consistently opposed the Chinese Warming Up For Gigantic Purge?

TOKYO (AP) — In terms that suggested a new purge may be imminent, Red China's leadership sharply denounced Thursday the thousands who make up the mainland's Communist bureaucracy.

Breaking the silence which has surrounded meetings of the party central committee and the current National People's Congress or parliament, the Peking People's Daily said:

"There are persons who have become steeped in bureaucracy, exhibit feelings of insolence and self-satisfaction, forget realities, estrange themselves from the masses and do not care to discuss things with the masses."

The paper, which speaks for the Chinese leadership, went on to demand the "re-education" of many of the more than 12,000,000 members of the Chinese party, the largest in the Communist camp.

SOON BLAMED?

The unusually strong attack on the men and women who carry out the policies of the Peking rulers raised the possibility they may soon be blamed in part for the present Chinese crisis. Until now the Chinese high command has attributed a three-year succession of crop failures, and the subsequent collapse of chairman Mao Tse-tung's industrial "great leap forward," to natural calamities.

Since Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung endorsed the great leap program in 1958, the Kremlin has warned—in its usual veiled Marxist language—that the Chinese cannot leap into Communism any faster than the Russians.

The People's Daily editorial seemed to agree that, after an agonizing reappraisal by Chinese leaders, a new and more realistic approach is needed.

$100 Million For UN?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate overwhelmingly approved last night a bipartisan bill giving President Kennedy flexible authority to advance $100,000,000 for the financially hard-pressed United Nations.

The vote was 70 to 23.

Immigration Curbs Passed by Lords

LONDON (Reuters) — The House of Lords Thursday night passed the Conservative government's controversial bill to control immigration to Britain from Commonwealth countries.

The bill, already passed by the House of Commons despite criticism that it is discriminatory to colored people, now only awaits the formal royal assent to become law. Thursday night's action in the upper House occurred without a vote being held.

Lord Kilmer, lord chancellor and Conservative leader in the Lords, said it was a matter of regret that Britain could not preserve the open door for Commonwealth citizens as in the past but people could not ignore changing circumstances.

"The net inward movement from the West Indies, East and West Africa and Mediterranean and Asian territories of the Commonwealth for the first quarter of 1962 was 28,000, against 19,000 for the corresponding months of 1961."

The number of unemployed Commonwealth immigrants in Britain on March 12 was 32,000, an increase of nearly 10,000 over the November figure, he said.

The strong Liberal showing boosted the party's claim to a comeback and was expected to spur charges that the Conservatives have lost the support of British voters.

In the by-election, Labor candidate W. T. Rodgers swamped Conservative G. J. K. Coles by 19,694 votes to 12,112. Liberal John Mulholland finished a close third with 11,722 votes, less than 400 behind Coles.

Rodgers' winning margin was more than double the one run up by Laborite George Chetwynd when he won in 1959.

The results were deemed a blow to Macmillan because the prime minister broke an unwritten rule and campaigned for Coles personally.

An Earnest Plea

THERE CANNOT be any doubt about where Canada stands officially about nuclear arms. She would prefer to have nothing to do with them if escape from their incidence can be achieved. Mr. Green has made this plain enough by his efforts at Geneva to influence the two great nuclear powers towards disarmament.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has underlined the sentiment afresh in his plea to Russia and the United States to forget about further nuclear tests.

Like most people he views a resumption of atmospheric nuclear testing with extreme dismay and as a setback to the hopes that no more pollution of the air by radioactive fallout would take place.

Mr. Diefenbaker makes the pertinent point also that both East and West know full well that the more nuclear arms the more the danger of nuclear war. This is patent from the very fact that talks like those at Geneva are entered into, even if one despairs sometimes of anything of real value being accomplished by them.

Nothing positive has been achieved so far but Mr. Diefenbaker makes it plain this should not be excuse for starting the nuclear test program all over again. Even without a test ban treaty or disarmament agreement both East and West should refrain from further provocation in this respect.

Both the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. have boasted repeatedly that with their present military capacities they can blow each other sky-high. An anxious world is prone to think this is enough. What more can they want? At least even if the uneasy status quo is maintained a halt should surely be put to further nuclear exploitation and expansion.

Mr. Diefenbaker's earnest appeal to the two great protagonists of the cold war is an application of the dilemma that besets the government over the Bomarc warheads and accounts for lack of a final decision on their acquisition. Perhaps the government should have made up its mind by now but it cannot be faulted for a reluctance to embrace nuclear arms so long as this is not mandatory.

The prime minister is urgently calling on both East and West to desist and not worsen international tension and the risk of grave miscalculation by enlarging the arms race through further nuclear tests. One hopes sincerely that his words are heeded; they have the backing of the Canadian nation which cannot but applaud the sincere efforts the government is making to bring East and West nearer to conciliation.

No Image

MR. ALLAN FIELD, director of the Canadian government travel bureau, has complained before a Senate committee that during a six-week visit to the United Kingdom he discovered that the British people knew almost nothing about Canada.

What Mr. Field found, of course, was not the new phenomenon of the disappearing Canadian image as suggested by the Liberal Party, but a situation that has existed for years. The bitter truth is that Canada has no image abroad, either in Britain or anywhere else.

The reason for this sad state of affairs is simple. No Canadian government in office at any time during the past 50 years—and probably before that—has made the slightest serious attempt to inform the peoples of other countries about Canada.

While the governments of many other nations, such as Britain, the United States, Italy, Japan, West Germany, Portugal, South Africa and even Russia, to name a few, have developed smoothly operating bureaus whose job it is to prepare and disseminate useful information about their own countries to the world at large, successive Ottawa administrations have been content to sit still and do nothing about it.

The result is that even though only a small percentage of the material may be published by them, newspapers and other public information media offices throughout the world have been able to build up a comprehensive reference library of facts and figures related to countries whose job it is to perform a useful and vital function in a shrinking world where misinformation is a major danger.

As long as Ottawa is content to ignore the crying need to tell the world about Canada, Canadians must be prepared to meet a blank stare whenever the name of their country is mentioned abroad.

Ineffective Weapon

MAYOR TOM ALSBURY'S idea of forming a league of urban voters to fight for a better provincial deal for British Columbia cities serves to underline civic frustration, but it falls short of being realistic.

The Vancouver mayor is on sound ground when he complains that the provincial government discriminates against urban centres.

He can cite, for instance, provincial grants which are less per capita for large municipalities than for small; the recent reduction in power rates, higher as a percentage in most rural areas than in Greater Vancouver or Greater Victoria; the province's tiny share of highway building and maintenance costs within city limits; the lack of representation in the Legislative Assembly in proportion to population in his own city's case, although not that of Victoria.

But Mayor Alsbury would have the league of urban voters tied to no political party and presumably not a party in itself. What then could it hope to achieve?

The Bennett government has turned a deaf ear consistently to the united voice of the municipal representatives of British Columbia seeking a new deal in the sharing of education and other costs. And it has done so successfully, winning re-election despite this defiance of popular demand.

The simple fact is that elections are not fought on single issues, and that on the broad scale there has been no alternative to Social Credit government to suit the people of the province.

The government therefore would hardly fear nor be much influenced by a non-partisan urban league, however vocal; nor, if the league were to assume partisan lines, would it be likely to have general support.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and shoes, and shoes...

BY TOM TAYLOR

THERE was a time when I'd have hesitated to mention the world corset in print but happily we live in more emancipated days.

Not that this instrument of compression is on the top secret list, exactly. Unlike the sacred chamber of Parliament where Mr. Diefenbaker strangely says, matters of security must not be discussed, a corset, otherwise girly, is now of worldwide familiarity. Even if gentlemen still refrain from mentioning it by name in mixed company, out of deference for such of whose members commonly wear one, it is pictorially depicted in fashion catalogues and there is no longer any inhibition about displaying such girdling upholstery in store windows.

There are periods indeed when the display is quite overwhelming. Still and all if corset is not a secret word it does even now, remain frequently unspoken, and, beyond the advertising realm, unprinted. And perhaps not merely for the sake of modesty. Some male creatures are prone to its use, I suspect, but put it on a private security list not to be breached.

This is not a piece about the more esoteric range of feminine apparel, let me hasten to add. I would not mention the garment at all. I suppose it can be called a garment—except that it appeared twice in the sports pages this week, scarcely the place where one usually expects to find it.

A hockey player in the current Stanley Cup playoff series wears one. Only while playing, of course; any other as sample, I presume to be invalid. Hockey players are men and he-men, it is believed, don't normally wear corsets. But the revelation rather opens the door to general comment.

Anyway, it is worthwhile perhaps to point out that once upon a time, just as with silken hose and late raffish, it was the male sex which dabbled mostly in corsets. True enough they were called corsets but one little I doesn't change the situation.

They, too, were form fitting and clung to the figure, and while they were primarily body armor you can see from medieval examples still extant that they were fashioned with an eye to style. And drawn in at the waist, which as you know is the prime function of the modern corset minus its I.

I must presume therefore that milady owes her girlish to her spouse of old. I suppose I should confess though that my interest in the hockey player's corset was aroused by memory that once I wore one myself. But only athletically, believe me. I would not like my friends to think my slim midriff owes anything to feminine apparel.

This was in the long ago during a soccer game when I essayed to play despite a couple of cracked ribs, the latter a circumstance that in my youthful days seemed of small consequence. Admittedly, however, I tore off its encircling gleam at half-time, preferring to be free of such constraint and over after somewhat glad to have been born what I am.

This reason alone should keep a gentleman discreet in mixed company. Sympathy, I mean.

The hockey player in question wears one to protect an ailing back, not a bad idea in a game subject to tactical shock and awe. I wouldn't be surprised if Canadian footballers wore corsets, more correctly corsets in this context, for they also are enclosed in all manner of supports hidden by voluminous jerseys.

The secrets don't all belong to the feminine world, you know. I was rather intrigued, however, by the statement that after the game the hockey player "climbed out of his corset." This would be written by a male scribe, I suppose, but perhaps the point should not be pursued.

The manner of putting on and taking off a corset is another subject, and it is still listed as "classified" information.

With the Classics

I met a traveller from an antique land
Who said: Two vast and trunkless legs of stone
Stand in the desert. Near them, on the sand
Half sunk, a shattered visage lies, whose frown,
And wrinkled lip, and sneer of cold command,
Tell that its sculptor well those passions read
Which yet survive, stamped on these lifeless things,
The hand that mocked them and the heart that fed;
And on the pedestal these words appear:
"My name is Ozymandias, king of kings:
Look on my works, ye Mighty, and despair!"
Nothing beside remains.
Round the decay
Of that colossal wreck, boundless and bare
The lone and level sands stretch far away.

Lesson of Argentina

There Is Time ... But Not Much

By J. BALBO FERGUSON

WHATEVER the outcome of the Argentine crisis, it has taught one disquieting lesson with implications far beyond Argentina's— or even South America's—boundaries. It is that seven years after the removal of a dictator whose continued presence would have been disastrous, his mystique can still survive without any of the emotional atmosphere which characterized his rise and his rule.

Since 1855 there have been no banners or broadsides, no rallies or slogans or symbols or ubiquitous portraits of Juan and Evita Peron; the dictator himself, still at liberty in Spain, and Evita in death. Yet millions of well-to-do and by no means uneducated citizens, without benefit of bullying or danger of coercion, chose to vote on March 18 for Peronism—a badge-pole of socialism, nationalism and mysticism without the slightest intellectual or doctrinal foundation.

Argentina prides itself on being a European nation, and is so far more truly than South Africa or Algeria. France, for there are almost no "natives" left. It is relatively prosperous by any standards and potentially more so. The gap between rich and poor is less marked than in Spain or Italy, and there is no race problem. It is a far cry from Cuba.

But it was not always so.

Until the 1940s, though Argentina was institutionally democratic, with universal male adult suffrage and regular elections, in fact it was controlled by a tight "oligarchy" (Peron's word) of wealthy landowners and powerful foreign interests. The rural peones on the estancias were bound by debt to their employers and liable to eviction if they proved troublesome. The urban workers were free, but few were unionized and the unions—mostly anarchist and syndicalist—were largely led by European immigrants and had not taken root in Argentine soil.

It was to this urban and rural proletariat that Peron appealed in his electoral campaign of 1945, and he could point to his efforts as minister of labor on their behalf in building up a powerful trade union movement over the previous three years. The descamisado (shirtless ones, a fanciful description) were at last to come into their own; they cared little that opposition was stifled, the press muzzled, the national economy ruined to provide their wage-increases and their job-moratoria.

At the same time Peron appealed to the irritable chauvinism of the kind of people who in Britain write to the papers about foreigners having illegitimate babies on the National Health.

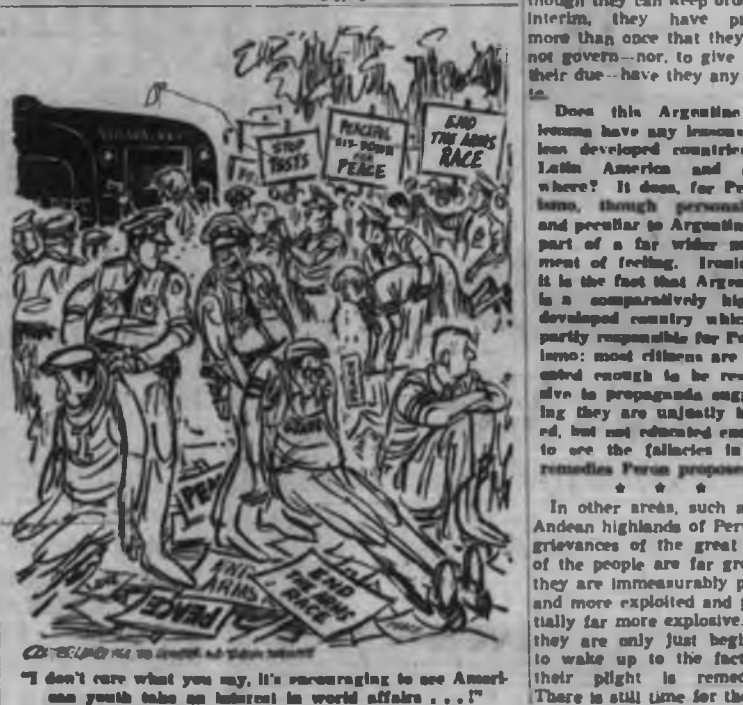

Finally, he had the support of a large number of lower white-collar workers—book-keeping clerks, Iowa hall officials, bus inspectors—who under his regime became men of authority.

It is a combination of all these who today continue to support Peron, and he has raised for more thinking Argentinians a problem which could apply elsewhere: what does a democratic government do when a large portion of the electorate freely chooses a totalitarian party? What President Peron did was to "intervene" in five of the provinces which had voted Peronista to put them under direct federal authority as the constitution entitled him to do. But this was obviously a stop-gap solution since there will be other elections, including a presidential one, in 1964.

The obvious solution was for the democratic parties to form a coalition to fight the common enemy: together they would command a majority. Unfortunately these parties, as happened elsewhere, have been too small-minded to adopt this obvious course. Dr. Ricardo Balbin, of the Popular Radical Party, has refused to cooperate with the Intransigent Radicals of President Frondizi, and this strained the coalition at birth. In the circumstances, the armed forces, traditionally the keepers of the nation's conscience, have stepped in. But though they can keep order at intervals, they have proved more than once that they cannot govern—nor, to give them their due—have they any wish to.

Does this Argentine dilemma have any lessons for less developed countries in Latin America and elsewhere? It does, for Peronism, though personalized and peculiar to Argentina, is part of a far wider movement of feeling. Ironically it is the fact that Argentina is a comparatively highly developed country which is partly responsible for Peronism: most citizens are educated enough to be responsive to propaganda suggesting they are unjustly treated, but not educated enough to see the fallacies in the remedies Peron proposes.

In other areas, such as the Andean highlands of Peru, the grievances of the great mass of the people are far greater: they are immeasurably poorer and more exploited and potentially far more explosive. But they are only just beginning to wake up to the fact that their plight is remediable. There is still time for the gov-

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in letters to the editor, they must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 200 words in length, and, if signed with a pen-name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

It was not for introducing tobacco into England in 1563 that they beheaded Raleigh, but it might have been a better idea. The story goes that he told his short-sighted servant to fetch him a jug of ale and when he returned, Raleigh was enjoying his pipe of peace; something new he had picked up in the Americas. The varlet threw the ale all over his master, thinking him to be on fire.

Four centuries later, the British Medical Association has laid it on the line that cigarette smoking is definitely the cause of lung cancer, with a clause to cut advertising the weeds.

We may expect the next step to be statistically prove that all smoking puts nicotine into the blood stream, a possible basic cause of all cancer.

Homathko Power

There is a feeling of humility in invading a field so dominated by experts; however, as these seem to hold conflicting opinions, possibly a mere citizen's opinion on the power issue might be tolerated. Therefore, I suggest that a nearer-to-home and down-to-earth source of power is available to meet our immediate needs for some time to come without subsidization from either above or below our southern boundary.

The Homathko River system encloses a glacier and four good-sized lakes which empty into Bute Inlet.

As a Sport, a Sin

I would like to make a complaint against a sin that is rampant throughout the world. This immorality is the making of the forms of fighting such as boxing, wrestling and judo into a sport.

I just don't think that God created the human being to make a sport out of two people slugging each other in the head or twisting each other's bodies. I don't believe that our Creator wanted the human being to love fighting and make it into a form of spectator entertainment. Why do our churches preach against all forms of worldly pleasures and refuse to attack the most worldly pleasure of all, the love of fighting?

Boxing, wrestling, judo and any other kind of fighting are perfectly decent to learn as "self-defence" but I am sure that God never wanted us to make them into a form of athletic or spectator entertainment.

Show-Window Farce Charged By Productivity Council Critic

VANCOUVER (CP)—The rift between organized labor and the federal government over the National Productivity Council was widened Thursday when Canada's biggest trade union condemned the council as a "show-window farce."

William Mahoney, National director of the 83,808-member United Steelworkers of America (U.S.W.), blasted the federal government, the council, its industrialist chairman and one of its key members in an opening statement to the union's two-day policy conference here.

He contended that a study of productivity alone is no answer to Canada's economic problems—that "some temporary increase in productivity alone might actually damage our economy by increasing unemployment and thereby harming the home market which is needed as a base for any improved export market brought into being by more international trade."

His critical fire was another round in a series of recent developments that appear certain to bring labor's role on the 25-member productivity council to a head soon.

Mr. Mahoney attacked the council as an "ineffective substitute" for what organized labor really wants—a national economic-social advisory council, representing big labor, big business and other sections of the economic community.

NATIONAL WELFARE
"Labor is prepared to make sacrifices for the national welfare," said Mr. Mahoney. "But those sacrifices must be made for the benefit of the community and not merely for the profit of some other individual interest."

Better Year Seen For Bargaining

VANCOUVER (CP)—The economic climate for collective bargaining in Canada "will be somewhat more favorable" in the year ahead than in the last five years, a leading union economist said Thursday.

Harry Wainglass, acting research director of the United Steelworkers of America (U.S.W.), made the forecast in his report on Canada's economy delivered

Thursday to the union's policy conference here.

He said export markets for iron ore, primary steel, nickel, copper, silver, aluminum and other primary metals are "quite strong," with metal prices in Canadian funds also improved.

Some further price increases may be expected as demand strengthens in some metal markets, he said.

Groups Meet Today

More Roads For Island Demanded

Several chambers of commerce want more and better highways and roads for Vancouver Island.

In fact, they'll be asking for roads all over the island, in resolutions submitted to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island which starts its 44th annual meeting today at Parksville.

FIRST PRIORITY

The most ambitious road projects will be sought by the Campbell River and Port Alberni chambers.

Campbell River and District Chamber of Commerce submitted a resolution asking that the provincial government be petitioned by the ACCVI to give "first priority" to extension of the Island Highway north to Port Hardy in its 1962-63 program.

TOURIST HIGHWAY

Port Alberni and District Chamber wants road links to both the north and south portions of the island. It would like to see a tourist highway from Port Renfrew to Bam-field and Port Alberni and a highway connecting Port Alberni and Alberni to Courtenay.

The Courtenay-Comeox Chamber wants improvements to the Island Highway at Waterloo Creek, from north of Union Bay to Gartley Beach, including replacement of the Oyster River and Tumble River bridges. It also hopes for an extension of Ryan Road to Highway 19.

Tofino Chamber of Commerce is asking that the Alberni-Tofino Road be brought up to highway standards and kept open to the public at all times.

Bamfield Chamber pressed only for the government to complete a road link to Port Alberni.

FERRY LINK

In addition to an Island Highway extension, the Campbell River Chamber will seek improvements and opening to the public of the Elk Valley-Gold River Road, a Campbell River to Powell River ferry link and rebuilding and black-topping of main roads on Quadra Island.

The same group will press for elimination of dangerous corners at Oyster River and Hudson's Corner, paving of an extension of that road to Upper Campbell Lake and Buttle Lake.

Last Course Planned At Armory

The last of four civil defence training courses held in Greater Victoria this year will open on April 16, a spokesman for the militia here said yesterday.

A graduation parade for 93 trainees—less than 50 per cent of capacity for the course—was held yesterday at Bay Street Armory.

They were reviewed by Lt.-Col. L. W. Johnson, commanding officer of 25 Militia Group. Officials expect an even further drop in enrolment in the final course and are gearing the program for a maximum of 70 recruits.

There has been no word from Ottawa whether the survival courses will be resumed this fall.

Strike Halted 83 Minutes Before Start

TORONTO (CP)—The bill to halt a strike by 8,300 Ontario Hydro employees was given royal assent at 10:37 Thursday night—83 minutes before the midnight strike deadline.

Lieut.-Gov. J. Keller Mackay signed the bill in the legislature less than two hours after it had passed third reading.

After debating for more than three hours on the principle of the bill, the legislature had whipped through a clause-by-clause review and third reading.

Premier Robarts twice amended the bill at the suggestion of the New Democratic Party. One amendment would allow the government to pay the costs of the arbitrator and the other would limit the issues under arbitration to those not agreed on after appointment of a conciliator last Aug. 24, unless both sides agree to submit previously-decided issues to arbitration.

Psoriasis New "Break Through"

A new lotion, now appearing in Canadian drug stores shows great promise as a palliative for the skin condition known as psoriasis. The ingredients, among which is 5-Glyoxyl-dimethyl and a Picta Carbonis solution usually employed separately by skin specialists, combined, these chemicals have been brought together in a stainless, pleasant to use, economical lotion. It will be sold without prescription and marketed under the trade name of Psoranyl.

'Vital Bill Menaced'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulford said Thursday that Canada will be denied full details of how foreign-owned corporations and subsidiaries carry on in this country if some opposition tactics continue in the Commons.

Speeches by Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) indicate that that member has political purposes in mind. Mr. Fulford said:

"I can certainly say that what is being done here now and what has been done for the last three days will, if continued have the effect of depriving Canada of the benefits of an advantageous piece of legislation that would place the government for the first time in history in possession of full details as to how foreign-owned corporations and subsidiaries in Canada carry on their affairs."

In what amounted to a man-to-man Commons debate with Mr. Fulford, Mr. Howard continued to attack the financial disclosures bill.

Battered bow and keel of provincial ferry Chinook can be seen in this photo by Nanaimo reporter-photographer Pat O'Neill. With her forefoot some six feet above water, the 4,000-ton vessel is resting on buckled outer plates about one-third of ship's length back from bow. Thirteen-foot tide helped vessel extricate itself eight hours after it struck. Map at right shows location of Snake Island in relation to Nanaimo harbor.

Ferry Limpers to Vancouver

that' and I said 'Snake Island.'

Mrs. Margery Gimstick of West Vancouver said she was up on the bow when the 318-foot ship hit the rocks.

"I asked the lookout if by any chance we would be late getting into Nanaimo because of the fog.

"He said 'No, Snake Island is only 22 minutes from Nanaimo.'

"I looked at my watch and it was 23 minutes to 10—then I looked up and there was Snake Island—we were on it."

SQUARE IN MIDDLE

First of the passengers to step ashore at Nanaimo greeted reporters with "Well, Bennett's really put the province on the rocks this time."

Some of the passengers apparently could make out Snake Island as it loomed in the vessel's path before the collision.

John Tydell, a trucker, said: "We were out on deck when she hit. We saw it go up on the island, square in the middle."

"It was funny, I thought he was going to turn."

Another passenger said, "We saw the island coming up in the fog. I thought we were making a turn from it, but we didn't."

Most passengers credited the captain with averting possible panic among them.

Gerry Black, a former Nanaimo resident, said, "I have great admiration for Capt. Roy Barry. When she ran aground it could easily have led to panic."

CUP OF TEA

"But the captain was very calm and cool and kept us informed throughout."

"Right after the bump Capt. Barry told us we had run up on Snake Island."

"He calmed our fears and quietly asked us to proceed to the boat deck and put on our life-jackets."

"It was just as if he was asking us to come up for a cup of tea," Black said.

STERN SETTLED

As the ship came to a standstill her stern settled deeper until water licked over the aft few feet of the car deck.

The loading doors were opened as about a dozen small craft hovered around and the Mv. Eena hove to a short distance away. Passengers wearing lifebelts were loaded one at a time into the circling boats and transferred to the larger vessel for the two-mile trip to the docks.

LOW VISIBILITY

On landing they told news-men that visibility at the time of the crash was about one boat-length.

Capt. Barry joined the toll authority only recently when the crown agency took over Black Ball Ferries. With the latter firm he was senior skipper on the Horseshoe Bay-Nanaimo run.

Grounding of the Chinook was the second incident this year involving a B.C. government ferry operating in heavy fog without radar.

Canadian National the way of the worry-free

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States yesterday proposed an "equal time" arrangement with the Soviet Union so that each nation can go directly to the peoples of the other to argue its policies.

The proposal was put forth at the 17-nation disarmament conference by U.S. delegate Arthur Dean as the conference took up a discussion of war propaganda and how to stop it.

Dean said a Soviet resolution to ban war propaganda was too narrow. Instead, he proposed ever-increasing exchanges of information among all countries.

Kenya in Accord Zanzibar Split

LONDON (Reuters) — The British East African colony of Kenya took a giant step toward independence Thursday while the island protectorate of Zanzibar failed to resolve political disputes and set an independence date.

The Kenya constitutional conference drew to a successful conclusion here as the "big two" Negro parties agreed to form a coalition government and accepted a compromise constitutional plan that would lead the way to self-rule.

But Colonial Secretary Maudling expressed regret the talks here between the ruling Zanzibar and Pemba Peoples' party and the opposition Afro-Shirazi party "appeared fully to confirm the depth of the differences" between them as the Zanzibar conference neared an end.

Wife of Minister Clings to Gold Bed

LONDON — Mrs. Mary Edusei, wife of Ghana's industries minister, has refused to part with the $8,400 gold bed she had arranged earlier to return to the makers because of criticism in Ghana.

A spokesman for the makers of the gold-embossed bed said they sent a van to her London apartment to collect it as arranged—"but nothing doing"—she refused to let our men take it, although they waited for hours.

A store official said: "It is up to Mrs. Edusei to contact us again if she wishes to return the bed. We already have agreed to refund the full price."

IBADAN, Nigeria — Slave trader Aminu Amoo has been sentenced to 12 years in jail for selling a 30-year-old woman for $700.

HAVANA — The interior ministry has deported Argentine psychology professor Horacio Wiesbeck Houde, 25, charging him with nearly two years of "counter-revolutionary activities."

LYNN, Mass. — Mrs. Florence Staples, who said she heard "voices" that told her the world would come to a horrible end, shot and killed two of her sleeping children, Lola, 6, and Daniel, 17, Williams, 19, disarmed his mother and called police.

ROME — Conductor Pierre Monteux celebrated his 87th birthday by leading Rome's Santa Cecilia Academy orchestra.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Mrs. Mary Ruby was arrested for starting a fire that took the lives of her two little girls. Asked why she did it, firemen said the mother muttered: "The house was dirty."

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, 79, was stricken ill at court and rushed to the hospital by ambulance. The hospital reported him "quite chipper" and not in critical condition.

CANBERRA — Australians were told by External Affairs Minister Sir Garfield Barwick the impending U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific are "critically important" and they have nothing to fear from radio-active fallout.

TORONTO — Premier Robarts announced that H. Carl Goldenberg, Montreal industrial relations expert, will act as arbitrator to lay down terms of settlement between Ontario Hydro and its 8,300 union employees.

NEW YORK — The Metropolitan Opera has disclosed that soprano Lotte Lehmann, 73, will come out of retirement in November to sing in a revival of Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier" at the opera house.

H-Alert Scare Leaked?

LONDON (CP) — The Daily Express says the United States may be forced to launch its nuclear retaliatory force in the event of a radio blackout created by Russian H-bomb devices.

The newspaper says the Americans suspect the Russians are experimenting with bombs that exploded in space would release electric particles that could prevent the passage of radio waves.

NEGATIVE LINK
If such bombs were released immediately before a Soviet attack they could eliminate the value of the early warning radar system.

Thus "negative communications" — any sudden unexplained break in radio communications—might be a reason for unleashing the U.S. H-bomb force.

The article says it was because of this danger that the Pentagon deliberately leaked the news that a fluke electronic failure came close to sending American bombers towards their targets.

U.K. Civil Service Penetrated by Reds

LONDON (Reuters) — An investigating committee set up after Britain's 1961 spy trials yesterday reported a "most dangerous" penetration of the British civil service by Communists and Communist sympathizers.

The committee proposed measures to combat "presumably deliberate massing of Communist effort in the civil service unions."

It said Communists appear to have "achieved a higher degree of penetration here than in almost any other sector of the trade union movement."

The committee, headed by an eminent jurist Lord Radcliffe, was set up to investigate public security procedures after former foreign office employee George Blake was jailed for 42 years on spy charges last May.

SERIOUS DAMAGE
Blake's apprehension—his activities were undisclosed but the prosecutor said he did "most serious damage" to Britain's interests—came only five months after five persons were convicted of spying on Britain's underwater weapons research centre at Portland in what security critics said was the worst penetration of British security since physicist Klaus Fuchs gave atomic bomb secrets to Russia.

The committee's report was presented to Parliament with a declaration that the government is adopting its recommendations.

Beauty Work Soon

The Saanich portion of the Douglas Street beautification project should begin to shape up within the next week or two.

It is part of a Capital Improvement District Commission project aimed at beautifying the Douglas Street approach to British Columbia's capital city.

Saanich public works department has been widening sidewalks and installing precast concrete curbs for trees during the past month.

FLOWERING TREES

Next week, the parks department will start planting red oak and flowering plum trees about eight feet tall in the tubs, municipal planner Tony Parr said last night.

The ornamental trees will be backed by a row of poplar trees on the west side of Douglas from Cloverdale to the OCF Hall, to screen industrial warehouse and storage areas from view, he said.

COLORS BENCHES

Later there will be colored, modern design benches placed at intervals along both sides of Douglas for the benefit of pedestrians, and "low lighting" will be installed to illuminate the landscaping.

Northern end of the beautification project will be the intersection at Saanich Road, said Mr. Parr.

Board Set To Check Pay Claims

Provincial government yesterday appointed a three-man board of reference to hear appeals by the B.C. Government Employees' Association over the amount of recent pay increases awarded by the Civil Service Commission.

Chairman of the board, representing the cabinet, will be H. F. Angus, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission. Vancouver lawyer Thomas Dehn will represent the union and William Sands, deputy minister of labor, will represent the Civil Service Commission.

The BCSEA protested against the pay increases when they were announced Feb. 12. Union officials said they had sought increases of between five and 30 per cent but were only granted increases averaging five per cent.

A date will be set for the board hearing.

B.C. Scouts Due Here At Easter

Easter Week will see a record number of British Columbia Queen's Scouts descend on Government House here to be honored by Lieutenant Governor Pearkes, provincial Scout patron.

This year, 210 provincial Scouts have attained the highest possible rating, and will receive special certificates from the lieutenant-governor.

At the same time 53 B.C. Girl Guides will receive their Gold Cord certificates—equivalent to those given the Queen's Scouts.

Ceremonies will be held at Government House April 26 at 2:30 p.m.

Scouts from the B.C. mainland and the Yukon will travel here from Vancouver April 25 aboard the RCN destroyer escorts Fraser and Saguenay.

The boys will leave Victoria April 27 for their return home.

Student Wins Oratory Trip To Mainland

Grade 6 student at George Jay School, Ricky Hundal, 12, of 1238 Vining, has won his way to Vancouver where, on Saturday, he will compete with orators from Vancouver Island and the mainland in a contest sponsored by the Optimist Club.

Ricky won the trip in an oratorical contest sponsored by the Victoria club for the Greater Victoria area. Winner at Vancouver will compete against orators from Washington, Oregon, Idaho and B.C. at the district convention to be held in Victoria May 2.

International finals will be held in St. Louis, Mo.

BIRDS HELP

Buses are used to take miners 300 yards into a mine in Sweden's far northern area of Kiruna.

A sleek Swedish sports sedan swerves round a bend in a special hill climb test near Regina during last year's Rally. Read how you can see the Shell "4000."

Cars from seven countries enter Shell "4000"— world's longest rally. Arrives Vancouver next Saturday.

The Shell "4000" Car Rally starts today from Montreal. 100 of North America's top rallyists will pilot models from the great automobile factories of Europe and North America. Seven days and 4,122 miles later the trek will end in Vancouver.

En route everything will be tested from driving and navigational skills to endurance of man and machine. Safety will be paramount.

The Shell "4000" ranks with the world's leading international car rallies. The box at the right tells when and where you can watch a piece of this exciting drama.

THE 1962 Shell "4000" is the longest rally in the world. The most grueling test of top performance ever held in the Western Hemisphere. 100 famed national and international rallyists will make the "4000" one of the major international sporting events of 1962.

Renowned competitors include Reg Hillary, the winner of last year's Shell rally. His co-driver, Francis Bradley, will take a busman's holiday in the rally—literally. Bradley is a Toronto bus driver. And one of Canada's leading sports car drivers.

Denise McCluggage, famous American woman sports driver and journalist, will be trying for a repeat of her triumph as winner of the Coupe des Dames in last year's rally.

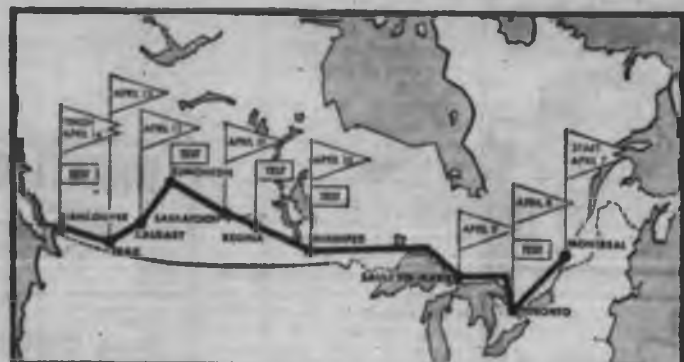

One outstanding entry is from behind the Iron Curtain. Czechoslovakian rally champion Václav Bobek will drive one of his country's cars.

The cars come from seven countries—Canada, the U.S., the U.K., France, Germany, Sweden and Czechoslovakia.

Grueling conditions

They will negotiate an arduous 4,122-mile route between Montreal and Vancouver. Skill and stamina will be tested.

*As recorded by the Royal Automobile Club of England.

The Shell "4000" will go this way. Flags shaped like this indicate start and finish. These flags 'P' show stopover cities, and these 'P' where special driving tests will be held. Shell invites you to watch.

Timing will be severe. There will be more than 50 controls (check points). Cars will be penalized a point for every minute they're off schedule—early as well as late.

The day's route will not be revealed to crews until one minute before they start the section. They will then receive Shell maps plus written instructions.

Drivers will be told the location of some controls. Others will pop up at unexpected spots along the route.

Changing flat tires will be the only repair allowed during overnight stops (all cars will be impounded every stopover). All other servicing and repairs must be made en route—when lost time costs points.

Early results

Each section will have its own prize winners. Giant IBM computers will sort thousands of facts to produce provisional results of each day's driving before the start of the next section. (Watch for reports of day-to-day results in the pages of this paper).

Longines Printonines (rally timers)—used in such famous events as the Monte Carlo Rally—have been flown in from Switzerland specially to clock all stages of the rally.

Seventy-five trophies and $5,000 in cash will be awarded to winning drivers. Prizes will go to leading teams in each class and category, and for each section. And of course, the ladies will do battle for the Coupe des Dames.

All will use Shell

Shell will provide the gas and oil for all the rally cars. Every one of the nine ingredients in Super Shell will have a definite job to do. Here's what entrants will demand, and what they'll receive from the Super Shell formula:

#1—TCP*, for power, mileage and long plug life. Take plugs, for instance—TCP can make them last up to twice as long, by neutralizing engine deposits. In the Shell "4000," drivers can expect their plugs to fire every bit as strongly, evenly, at the finish in Vancouver as they did at the start in Montreal.

#2—mixed pesticides, for fast warm-ups. Shell "4000" drivers will need top engine performance in a hurry—particularly on cold mornings in the Prairies or Northern Ontario. Mixed pesticides are added specifically to get things moving smoothly and quickly.

#3—anti-knock mix, to resist all kinds of knocks. Heavy demands on an engine (straining up steep roads in the Rockies is an extreme example) can induce knock so violent it actually demolishes pistons. And engine trouble is something a Shell "4000" entrant just can't afford.

*Shell's trademark for this unique marine additive developed by Shell research. Patented 1955.

#4—gun preventive, to keep carburetors clean inside. A gummed-up carburetor jet can cut performance—even stop an engine dead.

#5—butane, for quick starts on cold mornings. Over-night temperatures in Western Canada can dip almost to zero in early April. If a Shell "4000" driver's engine doesn't "snap to," it could cost him points. Butane makes Super Shell eager to fire.

#6—"cat-cracked" gasoline, for extra power. When his foot goes down, the rallyist expects a purr of smooth power. High-octane "cat-cracked" gasoline does this job.

NOTE: TCP also helps add power to Super Shell.

#7—heavy alkanes, to help control "high-speed knock." With up to 800

miles to chalk up in a day (the Saul Ste. Marie to Winnipeg section), the rallyists will cover mile after mile at highway speeds. "High-speed knock" can hammer an engine with nasty results. Shell's heavy alkanes help defeat this menace.

#8—carburetor defroster. Chill, damp weather can line a carburetor intake with frost—and stifle an engine. Shell "4000" drivers anticipate a dose of this weather—but because of Shell's carburetor defroster they probably won't be bothered by it.

#9—Platformate, for extra mileage. When an extra stop for gasoline can cost you valuable points, you appreciate Platformate. It gives 7 per cent more energy than 100 octane aviation gasoline.

NOTE: TCP helps increase mileage, too.

SEE RALLY TESTS AT MIDDLE GATE SHOPPING CENTRE. FINISH AT BAY SHORE INN.

The Shell "4000" cars will start arriving at the Middle Gate Shopping Centre at about 4:30 p.m. PST next Saturday. There they'll go through a stiff test of driving skill and precision.

Immediately they're through, the cars will leave for the finish of the rally at Bay Shore Inn. The first car should finish at about 5:00 p.m.—the last about two hours later. See the top—or the finish.

During the rally, watch the sports pages of this paper and check TV and radio listings for up-to-the-minute reports.

The caps consist of metal cylinders with red wire attached. They can be exploded by radio impulse without actual direct electrical contact.

MOTORISTS IN THE KNOW RIDE ON DOMINION ROYAL TIRES

Fred Blanford, one of Canada's few professional umpires, is constantly on the move between cities in the Northern baseball league. He covers over 2,000 miles a month by car during the baseball season.

SAFE!

You can be one of the fortunate car owners who get an extra measure of tire safety with the all-new Dominion Royal Low Profile Safety 800—at no extra cost.

This outstanding new tire has been specifically developed for the expressway age. Low Profile construction means cooler running, longer wearing tires with greater stability, greater high speed safety. A new tread design promises long mileage—has more gripping edges for faster stops, better traction and extra protection against skids.

Be sure to get softer riding, smartly styled Safety 800's on your new car, or as replacement tires on your present car.

Review Board Sought By Chamber

PORT ALBERNI—The Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce will press for the establishment of a board of review which can reclassify for development private land which is now classified as "tree farm land."

A resolution to this effect will be presented for backing this weekend during the annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

It asks that the ACCVI make representation to the cabinet urging passing of legislation which could bring the board of review into existence.

High-Level Hitch For Russ

PENTICTON (CP)—Penticton high school student Russ Cutler didn't think much about it when a well-dressed gentleman gave him a lift as he hitch-hiked home from school.

It wasn't until he had chatted a while that he realized he was talking to Premier Bennett.

Thus Russ became the first British Columbian to meet the premier on his incognito tour of the province. Russ said they just chatted in generalities—"nothing really important."

Fewer Jobless

Loggers in Demand As Picture Changes

DUNCAN—The local Unemployment Insurance Commission reported the general employment situation during March was favorable and the number of unemployed male applicants decreased to 515 from 562 in February.

STABILITY SEEN

Last year in March the total was 749 applicants. Total of 203 female applicants were unemployed in March compared with 189 in February and 205 in March, 1961. Officials say increased use of new portable loading equipment, low inventories and contract negotiations all contributed to the stability of logging crews.

A shortage of loggers is already evident and it is expected to become acute during the next few weeks as all camps are returning to normal operations. A total of 70 tree planters were hired through the local office and officials expect these men will be employed until late June.

According to the Unemployment Insurance Commission

Poor Health Adjourns Tax Case

Victoria barrister Ernest Henry Montague Foot, now in Arizona, has secured adjournment on grounds of ill-health of an income tax appeal case in Exchequer Court of Canada.

An appeal by the department of national revenue against a tax appeal board decision on Mr. Foot's income was to have started in Exchequer Court in Victoria yesterday.

Lloyd McKenzie, representing the department of national revenue, is seeking to have a date set for the hearing.

The dispute concerns Mr. Foot's income for the years 1947-51, which Mr. Foot had reported as being $47,000. Income tax authorities disputed the figure.

Prosecutor Blamed

NANAIMO — Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts has told a Nanaimo man he is satisfied the man was guilty of impaired driving, but he was bound to dismiss the charge.

The magistrate, deciding on the case of Earle Buchanan, blamed Crown prosecutor Sid Clark for not bringing out evidence which would have removed doubt of the man's guilt.

B.C. Power Chairman:

B.C. Law Can't Keep Issues from Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chairman Bruce Robertson of the British Columbia Power Corporation says provincial legislation can't keep the corporation out of court on all the issues involved in the Social Credit government take-over of the giant B.C. electric utility.

The power corporation, former parent of the BCE, is asking the B.C. Supreme Court to declare the take-over illegal. The same action asks the courts to set a price if the take-over is ruled legal.

The B.C. government recently passed legislation paying B.C. Power an additional $60,000,000 on the $111,000,000 compensation paid for BCE and withdrawing an offer to buy BCP itself for $68,000,000.

B.C. Power says the BCE is worth $225,000,000. The legislature also passed a measure amalgamating the BCE and B.C. Power Commission, a Crown agency, into a single power authority.

Two Youths Guilty Of Break-In

Two 18-year-old youths were found guilty in city police court yesterday of the attempted breaking and entering of an automobile whole-sale house March 27.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded Walter Graham, 851 Short, and Bruce Tennant, 7505 Wallace, to April 12 for sentence.

Const. A. H. Wells said that a table knife found in Tennant's back pocket fitted fresh marks in a door of Jeffrey and Jeffrey, 2507 Government.

for lawns that look like putting greens...

Lawn-Boy gives your lawn the close-clipped, broadloom look of a putting green because it cuts grass properly. Lawn-Boy's blade is part of the secret. It's made of case-hardened spring steel (like butcher knives) to give you a keen, long-lasting edge that cuts, not rips. Each blade has a special stiffener that stops the turning force from bending it, keeps it level to cut level. Blade height adjusts easily. With most models, you can buy a new grasscatcher that works like a vacuum cleaner to clean as you cut! The result is a lawn that's not just cut... but perfectly cut. Your Lawn-Boy dealer will show you.

McLean, Dowell Hot

Union Beefs Resented In City Hall

Letters from two labor organizations made two city aldermen hot under the collar yesterday.

The first letter, from the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council, asked city council to let city contracts only to employers using union labor.

The second, from city hall's outside staff union—the Civic Employees' Protective Association, Local 50—registered "a strong protest" against council awarding the contract for repainting of city hall to "a non-union contractor."

PUBLIC FUNDS
"We are dealing with public funds. I think anyone should be able to tender," Ald. Arthur Dowell said during a meeting of city lands committee.

"I would just like to know by what right the outside staff objects to what we do—if they can say this is not in the best interests of the city to do this," Ald. Rev. McLean asked.

"Are we compelled by any consideration, moral or otherwise, to go to a certain group to have a job done? We don't want to be partisan one way or another."

NOT RIGHT
Ald. Dowell: "If we were just letting contracts to what you might call a selected group, we would come in for a great deal of criticism. I don't think it is right."

Ald. McLean: "I don't particularly like the idea of outside workers objecting without making why they are objecting... I don't believe in peace at any price, but perhaps it is a good motto after all."

TAXPAYERS
Committee decided to reply to both letters that the contracting firm painting city hall is the holder of a city business licence and the owner of the firm is a city taxpayer.

"The committee feels it should not discriminate between any of the city's residents in spending tax money," the replies will indicate.

In Saanich Area

Planned Industrial Zone Will Come Before Hearing

A public hearing will be held in connection with Saanich plans for creation of a light industrial zone on Quadra near McKenzie where several similar types of businesses are already in existence. Date for the hearing has not yet been set. The industrial area plan calls for rezoning from residential to industrial of a portion of land bounded on the north by McKenzie, on the south by Hulford, on the east by Borden and on the fourth side along a line running some 300 feet west of Quadra.

It would involve some adjustments in the boundaries of adjoining residential areas.

Outcome of the public hearing might also have some effect on an application now before council from Borden Mercantile Co. Ltd.

The firm has asked for rezoning to permit a warehouse, manufacture and sale of livestock feed and sale of farm equipment and garden tools. The proposed light industrial zone includes property now used by a winery, a feed store and a deep-freeze locker.

Municipal planner Tony Parr said the main object is to provide a zone for existing and future industrial developments in the area, to prevent industries from spreading to residential areas under spot zoning.

Evidence Under Debate

Should Dog Send Man To Prison or Gallows?

Five Judges to Study 36-Year-Old Ruling

By G. E. MORTIMORE
Should a dog be able to send a man to prison, or the gallows?

Five black-robed judges of the British Columbia Court of Appeal will consider this question when the court holds its first sitting in the new Victoria courthouse Monday.

The court will reopen the case of Reginald Dale Haas, who was acquitted of breaking and entering by an Assize

Court jury in Victoria last Oct. 13 after Mr. Justice Thomas Brown had ruled the evidence of a Royal Canadian Mounted Police tracking dog was not admissible.

Mr. Justice Brown based his decision on the 1926 Appeal Court case of Rex versus White, in which a new trial was ordered for an alleged murderer because evidence of tracking bloodhounds had helped to convict him.

Split Three to Two

In 1926 five justices of the appeal court were split three to two. The majority opinion prevailed. It was for ruling out the bloodhounds' evidence and granting a new trial.

On Jan. 31 this year the crown placed the Haas case before the appeal court and asked the board to review the 1926 decision.

However, only three judges were on the bench at that time and they decided the matter was important enough to should be considered by five judges.

The court's decision will have far-reaching effects. Many Canadian police forces have been equipped with dogs in recent years.

A dog can't be brought to the witness stand for cross-questioning to find out whether or not his nose is telling the truth.

This was one of Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald's objections in 1926 to using the behavior of tracking dogs as evidence.

Hearsay Evidence

"... The admission of such evidence is at best akin to hearsay evidence," he said in his reasons for judgment.

"The use of ... dogs may be of assistance to the police to give them the clue to the identity of the offender, which, if obtained, may be followed up by conventional proof of guilt, but evidence of the actions of the dogs themselves should find no place in a court of law."

Before the appeal court tackles the question of dogs' evidence on Monday, all eight judges of the court will sit on the bench for the opening of the new court.

They will probably hear a short address by Chief Justice A. C. Deshrisay.

Then five of the eight judges will remain to consider the case of the tracking dog.

Deadlines in May

Two Area Chain Stores Redeem Trading Stamps

Shop-Easy and Super Valu stores in Greater Victoria are redeeming trading stamps on the basis of $2 worth of merchandise per book.

George Sargison, district manager for Shop-Easy, said the deadline for redeeming stamps for his company was May 23.

FOUR CENTS
Redemption value is four cents per page, or $2 per 50-page book of 1,500 stamps.

Stamps must be returned to the store from where they were obtained, he added. Customers of the Co-wood Shop-Easy, which was gutted by fire last Sunday, will be able to redeem their stamps at a special office set up by the company at Co-wood Plaza, which will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday.

Super Valu stamps are being redeemed on the same basis, but the deadline for returning the stamps is four days earlier—May 19.

James Bay Move

New Parking Restrictions Aimed at Civil Servants

Wholesale parking restrictions around the legislative buildings were recommended to city council yesterday.

Council's streets traffic committee recommended the restrictions to city council in an attempt to solve complaints by James Bay residents that civil servants' cars prevent them from parking outside their own houses during the day.

Council will be asked to allow unrestricted parking on: East side of Menzies Street from Belleville to Superior, both sides of Superior Street from Menzies to Government, and both sides of Michigan Street, from Menzies to Government.

The committee also recommended to council that one-hour parking should be implemented on: Both sides of Belleville, Quebec, Kingston, Superior and Michigan between Owego and Menzies; on the west side of Menzies between Superior and Michigan.

At present all the streets are restricted to two-hour parking between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Big Turnout Hoped In Esquimalt Poll

Reeve A. C. Wurtel yesterday urged Esquimalt voters to reverse the trend of recent years and turn out in large numbers for Saturday's election.

THREE SEAT
Three men are seeking the council seat vacated last month by the resignation of Coun. F. V. Rush. They are Walter Holder, 1011 Colville, a former councillor; D. L. Douglas, 1338 Wood, a union business agent; and Walter Lock, 930 Esquimalt, a butcher.

Polls will be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, with those on section one of the voters' list casting their ballots at the municipal hall and those on section two at 555 Craigflower.

Case Closed On Hated Helmets

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow yesterday closed the Case of the Hated (Bobby) Helmets for 1962 with a resigned air and a word of praise for London police who still wear the helmets.

"I don't think we should spend taxpayers' money on hiring anybody to wear one," he said. "I just felt we might be able to find a regular policeman who would be willing to wear a bobby helmet during the tourist season as the helmets do lend a certain atmosphere to Victoria."

REQUEST REJECTED
Ald. Edgelow suggested the search for a policeman willing to wear a helmet at a recent public works meeting but Victoria police union rejected the request flatly.

STILL WEAR THEM
"British police still wear bobby helmets and they are acknowledged as among the finest police in the world," Ald. Edgelow said.

"They find the helmets neither ridiculous nor uncomfortable, so surely there is no disgrace to wear them."

Old Mishap Draws Hot Words

Hot asphalt which escaped from a railway tank car in the S&N marshalling yard in 1959, blocking a city storm drain, caused hot words at a city finance committee meeting yesterday.

Members of the committee indignantly rejected a recommendation by city solicitor T. P. O'Grady that the city accept $1,807.17 in settlement of the city's claim for damages totalling $3,614.34.

FAULTY VALVE
The asphalt escaped Sept. 12, 1959, because of a faulty valve on the tank car. Mr. O'Grady reported. It flowed into the storm drain system near Government and Chatham Streets and blocked the system when it solidified.

All members of the committee agreed it was not fair for the city to have to pay half the costs of digging the asphalt out of the storm drain system, and Mr. O'Grady was instructed to continue negotiations.

Blanshard Scheme

Road Relocation Cost Being Probed

City officials are preparing detailed estimates of what it would cost to buy 28 acres of built-up land southeast of the Fountain Circle, demolish all buildings and relocate Blanshard Street through the area.

MASTER PLAN
This was reported to a meeting of city council's urban renewal committee yesterday by city manager C. C. Wyatt, chairman of a special committee of experts who are carrying out work in connection with a master plan to revitalize blighted areas of Victoria.

Mr. Wyatt reported city assessor Alfred Joyce is preparing an estimate of what it would cost to buy all the property involved, and how much it would cost to tear down all the buildings.

City Seeks Money For Garages

Moves to borrow money to pay for construction of two off-street parking garages downtown were initiated yesterday by city comptroller-treasurer James Bramley.

On Mr. Bramley's recommendation, city finance committee instructed city solicitor T. P. O'Grady to prepare a special bylaw to give council the power to borrow money.

Mr. Bramley recommended temporary financing be arranged through a bank with debentures being based on the completion of the work.

No amount was set by the committee.

Rename Government?

Back to Bird Cage Walk

If the Foul Bay Road traditionalists have their way, Government Street should revert back to its original name, a native son said yesterday.

For the original name—Bird Cage Walk—syllable for syllable, was twice the ring of Ye Olde England atmosphere, says Aubrey Jones.

Mr. Jones, who was born on Bird Cage Walk, says the argument put forward by the Foul Bay Road preservationists that document problems would arise if the change went through is not valid.

"I didn't have to change my birth certificate or any other personal documents," he snorted.

"If they want to preserve all the old names, we should bring them all back—including Bird Cage Walk."

He said the name was tagged on the street because the old government buildings were nicknamed "the bird cages."

"I think there was a street with the same name in London and some wag tacked the name onto Government," he said.

The name stuck until around 1910, when the Causeway was built. City fathers felt Government Street had a more dignified tone and had the name changed.

Mr. Jones says he can't understand the hullabaloo about Foul Bay Road.

"No one protested when they changed Bird Cage Walk, and no one protested when they changed Foul Bay to Gonzales Bay."

His proposal, intended to shock the traditionalists into acceptance of the switch from Foul Bay to University Way, has apparently backfired, for it has already found a champion.

"A very nice name—it should never have been changed," said one-time city alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, 81.

"I think we should change Government Street back to Bird Cage Walk," he added.

Proposal Backfires

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about my husband? He is a collector. He doesn't collect things of value, you understand. That would make too much sense. He collects only junk.

Wendell still has the suit he was married in (25 years ago). Of course he can't button it but he says the style might come back and then maybe he'll go on a diet.

Our basement is a nightmare. I cry whenever I go down there to do the washing. He has magazines stacked up from 1935, also books he had when he was in Sunday school. And then there is the furniture from his mother's old house.

Two years ago I couldn't stand the way he had cluttered up our clothes closet. I gave him ten day's warning and then threw out a lot of trash, including his Eagle Scout uniform. He was so mad he wouldn't speak to me for a week. What's the answer?

COLLECTOR'S WIFE

Dear Wife: Life with a pack rat isn't easy.

Try this: String up a monk's cloth curtain across part of the basement and call it his warehouse.

Resolve never to look behind a door. Let him pile up anything and everything behind that curtain but make it plain that he's got to fit in the junk.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you regarding the pregnant woman who was embarrassed because she had to go to the doctor's office for check-ups without a wedding ring. It seems she had lost her wedding ring and her husband was mad at her for being careless and wouldn't buy her another one.

I read that column in the doctor's waiting room. I was there for a check-up, too. My baby is due next month. I am not wearing a wedding ring either. My husband wedded up three months ago. I looked around and there were four other women also obviously expecting. Two of them were not wearing rings.

I turned to the ringless

New Drug Passes Test

CHICAGO (AP)—A team of scientists has reported that not one unplanned pregnancy occurred among 210 women participating in a four-year test of a new oral contraceptive. Sixteen women who withdrew from the test in order to become pregnant, all reported pregnancies within 30 days, the report added. To date, 13 of the 16 women have been delivered of 13 normal, full-term infants, it was reported.

The three researchers presented their findings at the annual clinical meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. They are Dr. Joseph W. Goldzieher, Dr. Louis E. Moses, and Lucy T. Ellis, all of the San Antonio, Texas Planned Parenthood Clinic.

The scientists said the contraceptive—a drug called norethindrone—acts by inhibiting ovulation. The investigators said side effects in the test were "minimal."

BANTU WOMEN

The South African government says women are being built on Bantu reservations at the rate of 15 a day.

Glamorous French Model Gives Photogenic Tricks

PARIS (TNS)—Fashion models are often called clotheshorses or billion-dollar-dolls. But under the glossy, spotlighted surface there is a human-interest side to this most-exposed and glamorous profession.

"Lucky," a sylph-like brunette French beauty, was for 10 years the star mannequin in the house of Dior. Now she has just written her memoirs, telling about a model's life, her joys and fears, the "mannequin wolves" and the incidents which marked her own successful career.

The sophisticated way Dior clothes Lucky modeled always appeared even more so on her. She is also known for having shown off some of the most daring décolletés.

"The most embarrassing moment of my career," Lucky told me, "was when the Dior collection was taken to London a few years ago to be shown before Princess Margaret. I had to model one of those extra-low cut evening gowns including swift turns on the run-way."

Veal Party Dish
Ingredients: 8 scallops of veal (each 8 ounces), 2 onions, 2 dill pickles, 12 slices Canadian bacon, 1 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 green pepper (finely diced), 1/2 cup sherry, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 1 1/2 cup consommé (meat stock), 1/2 cup flour.

Saute the veal scallops slowly in butter until both sides are light brown. Blend in frying butter one fine chopped onion and brown slightly, add green pepper, paprika and flour. Stir constantly and blend in sherry and meatstock.

Put the scallops in the sauce and simmer until tender. Finish sauce by blending in whipping cream, bring to boiling point but take care that sauce does not curdle. Cut dill pickles julienne and slice onions in rings, roll rings in flour and deep fry them. Grill bacon crisp.

Put scallops on dish, pour sauce over them and around all a garnish of julienne of pickles, fried onions, grilled bacon, peas, carrots and dry cooked rice. Makes enough for six persons.

ST. DAVID'S
St. David's Women's Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. A. E. Taylor, 5156 Lochside Road on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, April 5th—A bargain is a bargain only when you have the cash to take advantage of it. Remember, "they have a way of turning up, and money in hand can make the difference between waiting and having. Next time you have an opportunity to make a once-in-a-lifetime purchase, drop in to your neighborhood branch of the B.M.F. Plan.

OF MONTREAL Find out about the B.M.F. Family Finance Plan which enables you to bring all your credit needs under one roof with a low-cost, life-insured loan, repayable in convenient monthly installments. Why not look into the B.M.F. Family Finance Plan today at your neighborhood branch of "My Bank."

STILL THE ONLY WAY to get clothes really white is to use RECKITT'S BLUE. It is now available in convenient, modern powder form, for use in both semi-automatic and fully-automatic washing machines. It comes in a handy package of six envelopes. You simply add the contents of one envelope to your wash at the same time as your soap. Inexpensive and easy to use. Reckitt's Blue actually helps prevent yellowing. Try it the next time you do the washing. You'll see what I mean! Available at your neighborhood grocery store.

DIET CONSCIOUS? Then here's a tip for your everyday eating. Fleischmann's 100% Corn Oil Margarine is recommended for modern diets. Made from pure, 100% Corn Oil, it's low, low in saturated fats. Ask your doctor about its benefits in your daily diet. Apart from its health benefits, Fleischmann's has a distinctly superior flavor you'll love on the table, or in your cooking. And here's another plus for you busy housewives: It spreads smoothly and easily, even when it's just out of the refrigerator. In fact, FLEISCHMANN'S CORN OIL MARGARINE tastes so delicious, so luxurious... you'll be surprised to learn it's margarine.

I'M SURE CLEOPATRA WOULD BE JEALOUS of the way we modern women can enjoy a luxury bath for just a few pennies... a bath made soft and fragrant with CALGON BOUQUET. Just try it... I know you'll agree that a bath scented and conditioned with Calgon Bouquet is a wonderful "beauty-booster." Your bath water feels silky-soft, your bath soap lathers luxuriously, and both water and soap rinse away cleanly... no sticky feeling... no bathtub "ring." That's because Calgon Bouquet is the "wonder" bath conditioner. Do treat yourself to the modern luxury of a Calgon Bouquet bath, today.

LET'S FACE IT... we all have chores we put off 'til tomorrow... but there's one job so easy I hardly know I'm doing it... that's keeping kitchen and bathroom drains "whistle-clean" with GILLETTE'S DRAIN CLEANER. At least once a week I make use of the special cleaning, boiling action of Gillette's Drain Cleaner to completely scour out every trace of gunk breeding drain mess. Liquid drains... and Gillette's Drain Cleaner can handle the greasy muck in drains. Just put 2 tablespoons of Gillette's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week... you'll find it's as quick and easy to use as it is effective!

FEELING A LITTLE RUN-DOWN after the long winter? This is the time of year to watch your vitamins and calories—and I know of no more delicious way to do this than to eat LIBBY'S SAUERKRAUT—after! There are so many good ways to serve it... hot with meat or cold in salads and sandwiches. And no matter how you serve it, Libby's still has the same high vitamin content... and contains no more than 25 calories in an average serving! High in vitamins, low in calories and low in cost... Libby's Sauerkraut is a real "bargain" in good health and flavor!

EVERY DAY, IN SO MANY WAYS, I'm grateful for the hard-working help of my favorite cleaning agent... versatile SUNLIGHT SOAP. Here are just a few of the cleaning jobs Sunlight does so well... fingerprints, dirt and grasy film disappear easily from painted surfaces or woodwork—at Sunlight never, never mars or scratches. I use Sunlight Soap for all my fine hand laundry and to get stubborn dirt out of shirt collars and cuffs. It's safe, completely safe, yet does a good, hard cleaning job. That's because Sunlight is pure, undiluted soap—mild on the hands and gentle to fabrics. Yes, Sunlight is the complete cleaning bar—yet costs less than any other bar soap or cleanser!

May Weddings Enliven Hamlet

CAIRO (Reuters) — In the nearby hamlet of Hazlet el Samman, May is the marrying month.

Normally a sleepy place, Hazlet el Samman comes alive on the stroke of midnight April 30 and stays that way for 31 days. For May, by tradition, is the only time when residents can marry.

Young couples marry in droves, and residents enjoy days of feasting and celebration. Merchants descend to sell silks, necklaces, bracelets and amulets for women and candy, pastries, firecrackers and whistles to children.

The grooms spend the last hours of their bachelorhood with their friends, who call on barbers to shave them, prepare their baths and help them dress in new clothes.

In the afternoon the grooms ride in a procession of carts or on horseback through the narrow streets to their parents' homes, where the wedding ceremonies are performed by a maulana, a kind of justice of the peace.

On the eve of her wedding a bride traditionally dyes the

The engagement is announced of Patricia Elaine, daughter of Mrs. Copley, 4265 Carey Road, and the late Mr. Frank Copley, and Mr. James Allen Boon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boon, 1230 Roy Road.

The marriage will take place on Saturday, May 12, at 8 p.m., in Wilkenson Road United Church, with the Rev. E. J. Staley officiating. (Photos by Ryan Bros. Studio.)

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Blake, 3641 Kathleen Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to Mr. Dennis Begg, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Begg, 2742 Scott Street. The wedding will take place in Metropolitan United Church on Friday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m., with Dr. F. E. H. James officiating. Veterans' Auxiliary Plan Festival June 20

At a recent meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Veterans' Hospital, further details of the forthcoming Dogwood Festival of 1962, scheduled for June 20, were given by the general convener, Mrs. Leslie Macdonell.

It was announced that Miss Kathleen Agnew will officially open this event.

Mrs. E. G. Hart will co-ordinate all tea arrangements in co-operation with the Red Cross Lodge.

The following conveners were named: Mrs. Margaret Harvey, Mrs. A. S. Averill, Mrs. J. W. Van Norman, Mrs. Eric Young, Mrs. A. G. Woodhouse, Mrs. W. Pennhallurick, Mrs. G. E. Lane, Mrs. H. Beecroft and Mrs. A. R. Minnis.

Nine birthdays of veterans were celebrated during the month in the Pavilion Lounge, each receiving a gift from the auxiliary.

Mrs. E. Vant, first vice-president, chaired the meeting and welcomed two new members, Mrs. I. Percival and Mrs. L. Smith. Mrs. W. R. Russell will act as chairman of the nominating committee at the annual meeting in June.

Mrs. Styles Sehl reported on sales of handmade dogwood pins and earrings.

The Mothers' Auxiliary to the 88th Squadron of Kinsmen Air Cadets will hold a home cooking sale on Friday, April 13, at 7 p.m. at the Safeway store, corner of Quadra and Hillside.

A special meeting of the Silver Threads Volunteer Corps will take place on Tuesday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. at 643 Broughton Street. Mr. Owen Karen, president of the board, will be present.

She succeeds Mrs. E. O. Duverniet also of Vancouver and will be the chapter's delegate to the annual meeting of national chapter, IODE, at the annual meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of Provincial Chapter will be held in Port Moody, in the fall, and the annual meeting next spring in New Westminster.

Hair-Do Irks Father

NEW YORK—Do parents approve of teen-agers' appearance? Beauty editor Lucile D. Kirk polled more than 200 families of teen-agers to find out—and came up with some mixed reactions.

Most of the fathers are proud of their daughters' looks and seek very little change in them. As to mothers, 92 per cent of them generally approve of the appearance of today's teen-age girls; 50 per cent believe that they succeed in making the most of their good features; and 85 per cent feel they dress appropriately for all occasions.

Teen-age boys impress adults surprisingly well on five points. Most rated them good to excellent as to dress, grooming, appearance of hair, posture and manners.

Don't think parents see no minor faults, however. Many fathers mentioned in no uncertain terms that their daughters were not neat enough around the house and wore their clothes too short and too tight.

Among other annoying habits mentioned by parents were nail-biting, gum-chewing, excessive giggling, loud voice and interrupting, poor table manners and general untidiness, poor posture and overweight.

While mothers (87 per cent) approve the way their daughters wear their hair, many fathers emphatically do not. Most of the paternal dissenters seem to agree with Victor Vito, New York hair stylist and father of a 19-year-old daughter, who said he hates to see teen-agers imitate their mothers' sophisticated hairdoes which do not suit their years.

Tribune Crescent, wore a wedding gown of white satin, styled with round neckline and tiny cap sleeves. The skirt featured unpressed pleats draped to create a bell effect. Her short, circular veil misted from a crown of crystal and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and freesias surrounding a gardenia and a fan. Mr. Stokes gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Beverley Stokes, bridesmaid for her sister, chose a gown of turquoise satin with overlay of nylon chiffon. Her floral hat was in matching shade and she carried a bouquet of yellow tulips and white freesias.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. MacMillan, Broadview, Sask., had Mr. Roman Lauer of Humboldt, Sask., as best man. Mr. Vincent Dangerfield and Mr. J. C. Nimmo acted as ushers.

A reception was held in the church parlor which was decorated with baskets of daffodils and blossoms. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake embedded in white tulle and sprinkled with daffodils and apple blossoms. Rev. Dangerfield proposed the toast.

Leaving on a honeymoon the new Mrs. Sayers wore a two-piece aqua suit, beige topcoat and coffee-colored accessories. Pink carnations were in her corsage.

Ontario Scandal

Road Construction Frauds Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Highway construction Company of Kirkland Lake, which is within the New Liskeard district.

In a statement to the legislature, he indicated there have been overpayments to some persons or companies.

(At New Liskeard, it was reported the discrepancies may involve between $75,000 and $125,000.)

Mr. Goodfellow said the district municipal engineer (Tracey C. Swartman of New Liskeard), who supervises government-subsidized work done by municipalities in the northern area, has been suspended "pending the outcome of the investigation."

The minister said the records of the district "could not be reconciled with the physical work that had been carried out."

Mr. Goodfellow said "certain criminal charges" have been laid but he could not give the names of persons being charged.

(It was learned at New Liskeard that a fraud charge was laid yesterday against A. Harris, a foreman for the O'Hara Con-

Indians Gain Rights

OTTAWA (CP) — Four additional Indian bands, three in Saskatchewan and one in British Columbia, have been granted the right to assume full or partial control of their own revenue expenditures, it was announced Thursday.

The John Smith, James Smith and Beatty bands, all of the Duck Lake Indian agency and having a combined membership of 1,635 persons, are the first Saskatchewan bands to achieve this status.

The fourth band is the Metlakatla, of the Skeena River Indian agency in B.C.

This brings to 41 the number of bands which have such control of their own spending—34 in Ontario, three each in B.C. and Saskatchewan, and one in Manitoba.

Black Watch Ex-Members Invited

Victorians who served with one of Canada's most famous regiments are being sought by a Brentwood man in order to make up a delegation to attend the centennial celebration of the Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) of Canada in Montreal.

Roy Henley, 1114 Marchants Road, is listing the names of former members of the regiment now living on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland.

SPECIAL RATE

"If we can make up a big enough party, then we can get a special travel rate," he said.

The regiment's centennial celebration will be held June 8, 9 and 10 at the Molson Stadium and at regimental headquarters in Montreal.

Mr. Henley said the centennial committee in Montreal has promised every help in arranging special travel rates for the West Coast veterans.

FOR CEREMONIES

Eligible to attend the ceremonies are men who served with the 13th, 42nd and 73rd Battalions in the First World War, and former Black Watch members who served in the Second World War and Korea.

The regiment is a direct descendant of the original Black Watch.

BATTLE HONORS

The regiment's Canadian battle honors date back to the Seven Years' War, when it played a part in the capture of Ticonderoga and Montreal.

New Try Set to Solve Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new, last-minute effort will be made to resolve the bitter jurisdictional fight over Newfoundland loggers involving two of the biggest affiliates of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The 64,000-member Carpenters

Brotherhood and the 36,000-member Woodworkers Union have been at each other's throat for several years over the right to represent Newfoundland loggers.

A reliable source said yesterday that CLC president Claude Jodoin expects to meet Peter Terzick, international treasurer of the carpenters, in a new high-level bid to avert the jurisdictional fight being dumped before next week's CLC convention.

Wiser's whiskies are older in virtually all cases!

Older to Wiser's means aged in wood, not merely the date-stamp on the bottle. It means "married in wood" which is a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending—for a further period of quiet aging. It means "lighter," smoother flavour acquired naturally—through patient aging. For the best whiskies, drink one that's older and Wiser's.

EXAMPLE:
Wiser's De Luxe—a light mellow Canadian whisky—10 years old.

Wiser's well-aged whiskies: Wiser's De Luxe, 10 years old, Wiser's 101, 6 years old, Wiser's Special Blend, 4 years old.

Hike Costs $4,451,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Estimated cost to the railways of the three-year wage agreements signed recently with the locomotive engineers is $4,451,000, Labor Minister Starr said Thursday in the Commons.

He informed Lionel Cheverie (L.-Montreal Laurier), that the cost to the CNR is $2,785,000. The settlement provided a three-stage wage increase totalling 6½ per cent.

Weather Forecast Pinpoints Salmon

OTTAWA (CP)—A new oceanographic information service which may eventually make it easier for fishermen to locate and predict their salmon catch in Canada's Pacific waters was outlined Thursday at a scientific conference here.

The Canadian committee on oceanography was told that for the first time in fisheries history regular information is being provided on oceanic conditions in the salmon pasture areas.

The new service, begun last year on an experimental basis, was expected in time to make possible predictions about the salmon catch in the same way as crop forecasts are made for grain farmers and apple growers.

Details of oceanic conditions are transmitted by radio to a processing centre at Esquimalt, B.C., which issues weekly charts.

The government has authorized construction of a 225-foot research ship, The Parry, for west coast work.

C-I-L unites beauty and durability in

NEW CILUX FASHION GLOSS

Now, give your kitchen and bathroom soft beauty and color richness in an enamel finish that's so tough you can scrub it with a brush.

As beautiful as it is durable, New Cilux® Fashion Gloss Enamel is the perfect answer for "problem walls"—walls that should be scrubbable, yet easy on the eyes.

You'll find that Fashion Gloss goes on smoothly and effortlessly—dries quickly to a tough, scrubbable, non-glaring finish—and one coat does it!

New Cilux Fashion Gloss comes in hundreds of soft pastel colors. There's one just right for your kitchen and bathroom walls—now available at your C-I-L Paint Dealer.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction. It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior. DURABILITY Western Red Cedar is one of the most durable species known. It's heartwood is highly resistant to decay and can be counted on for long and worthy service when conditions favoring decay prevail. 5 GRADES TO CHOOSE FROM: "FOREST" CEDAR SIDING WHAT IS FOREST SIDING? Made of dry 1 1/2" stock in 10 and 12-inch widths, "FOREST" siding is a new type of siding obtained from specially selected cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc. APPEARANCE? For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch in 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade. WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES? "FOREST" siding, with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume, adds to the structural STRENGTH and solidity of the building. The design of "FOREST" siding ensures a tight weather seal at the lap which together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle makes excellent material from the INSULATION stand point. Garden Notes

The Expert's Touch

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRANK

Earlier this week, in discussing the preparation of a seed bed, I mentioned the need for a good garden line and a yardstick or measuring tape. Now that we have our plot all laid out and prepared, it is time to put these implements to work and get on with the sowing of the seeds.

You should, of course, have a cropping plan—a sketch worked out last winter during those lazy evenings spent before an open fire. In consultation with your wife, you worked out pretty well what vegetables are required for the family, how much of each, and when they can be brought to maturity.

From this plan, you made up your seed order. Now it is time to get some—not all—of these seeds into the ground.

In laying out the seed furrows, use your yardstick or tape, measuring from the permanent corner posts of the plot. Measure up both sides to locate the stakes between which the garden line will be stretched.

Measuring from the permanent corner posts a few times a row is sited will assure that your rows will be truly parallel; measuring from one row to another, minor errors accumulate and build up to the point where the whole plot is out of true.

With the garden line in position, make your seed furrows the proper depth, checking the planting depth for those particular seeds from the directions on the back of the seed packet. Watch this point of depth carefully, for more seeds fail to come up as a result of too-deep planting than through any other cause. If you must err, err on the side of shallowness.

There are various ways to make the seed furrows. Some folks use the corner of the draw hoe, pulling it through the soil while keeping light contact with the garden line. Some use the back of the rake, tamping down a V-shaped furrow in the soil. With short rows, I have often used the rake handle, simply pressing it into the freshly raked soil to the correct depth.

Up to this point, the run-of-the-mill backyard gardener and the green-thumbed expert have performed essentially the same operations. Stumblebum and expert alike have dug over the plot, added lime and peat, or some peat substitute, and have laid out and prepared the seed furrows. From this point on, the expert begins to add those little extra touches that make such a difference in the finished crop. The green-thumbed studies the particular needs and habits of each kind of seed, and prepares the seed furrow accordingly, while the indifferent or uninformed gardener simply buries in the seeds and lets it go at that.

In sowing onion seed, for instance, our expert knows full well that unless he sprinkles a little soil insecticide in the furrows, his onions will almost certainly become a happy home for a horde of slimy onion maggots. Aldrin, heptachlor, chlordane or one of the newer proprietary preparations containing Ethion are used to guard against this pest.

Carrots get the same treatment to protect them from the carrot rust fly, with a little more aldrin or chlordane scratched into the surface soil on either side of the row.

Both onions and carrots will need another whiff of bug dust a little later on in the season, applied to the soil on both sides of the row, but the important thing now is to get the seeds off to a good start.

Critic at Large

Concealed Looks of Despair

"The governess is a class rapidly on the increase; it is the only recourse left to young girls in the highest ranks of society who are forced to earn their living. She may be known by her plain and quiet style of dress; a deep straw bonnet with green or brown veil and on her face a fixed look of despair."

This appeared in a Ladies Journal in 1940, three years before the GBI (Governesses' Benevolent Institution) was founded. During that year 100 governesses advertised daily in The Times for a situation. By 1950, 21,000 governesses were registered as belonging to the most despised profession in Victorian England. Today the GBI has no working governesses or private teachers registered on its books, and since December, 1961, its employment bureau, opened in 1845, has been closed.

The above from an ad in The Spectator. A short story? Or perhaps an essay on society? I suppose you might say it is a happy ending. But I'm not so sure about that. "The fixed look of despair" has not disappeared. It has just moved from the face of the vanished governess to the faces of the mothers. Take a look at any mother with a couple of small fry tagging along in the supermarket and you'll see whence the "fixed look of despair."

Somewhat hesitantly, I confess to being one of that vanishing class who were reared by governesses. I don't remember any fixed look of despair either. But maybe they kept it concealed from me. We had German governesses in Milwaukee who were quite strict but quite loving girls and I remember being very fond of mine.

And what's the most despised profession now? Just because the profession of governess has closed its ranks doesn't mean there aren't any despicable professions open to you young girls of the highest ranks. I know many young girls of the highest ranks who are in the publicity profession. Believe me, that's just as despised as that of governess in Victorian England.

The fixed look of despair on any young governess trying to cram French in to some high-born host can be matched any day by a young publicity lady of the highest rank trying to plant an item in Dorothy Kil-gallen's column. In spades. As degradation goes, I think the governesses had much the better of it.

As one despised profession closes, there are always new ones opening. There were one million servants in London once, but gradually, remorselessly, London moves to our own Nirvana where almost everybody does his own dishes and makes his own bed.

But as the serving class disappears, new opportunities for humiliation open up for high-born young girls. Victorian England had governesses. We have Playboy Bunnies to serve the drinks and get their bottoms pinched. Don't you suppose the bunnies have a fixed look of despair in their private moments?

And how about the fixed look of despair on car hops, those miserable creatures who bring the hamburgers, dressed in their stinkiest slacks, honked at and pinched. Or bar girls. Or in all the box offices of the world. Or department store elevator operators.

There are still a goodly number of despised professions around. But never fear, girls, automation will get to all of them eventually.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

Liz, Dick, Joe, Justine

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton will star in Justine for Joe Mankiewicz, who is now guiding their screen love-making in Cleopatra. Richard was supposed to do a play in London after Cleo, but who thinks of a play when Elizabeth Taylor is in love with you?

When Jean Simmons was making The Robe with Burton, incidentally, she was very much smitten with him. But Jean, with a little difficulty, was able to remember she was married to Stewart Granger at the time.

Romano Brandi will be Where the Girls Are, in Rome and Hollywood, with Yvette Mimieux, George Hamilton and Connie Francis, the trio from Where the Boys Are. Brazzi tells me he has just finished The Redhead in Venice where, if you remember, he brought romance to the life of schoolteacher Katharine Hepburn in Summer time.

Forest Tucker tells this story: Both he and Jack Carson are members of the Lakeside Golf Club in Hollywood, and when his first wife married Jack after their divorce, his daughter asked him, "Daddy, whose name do I sign at the club now?"

Gertrude Berg has a new play, Libby, which she wants Henry Wadsworth to produce on Broadway. He can do it. If Marilyn Monroe is on time for their Something's Got to Give movie.

Burt Lancaster believes in his Birdman of Alcatraz picture and gave the first bona fide screening to the cinema arts class at the University of Southern California.

Brenda Lee, 17-year-old recording star, will be going to Moscow on a cultural exchange. Tiny Brenda, a better per excellence will be something really new for the Muscovites to see and hear.

Pretty Pippa Scott, unmarried, plays a widow with seven small children and a dog, and in addition she boards another six children in the Debbie Reynolds' starter, My Six Loves. Pippa also has a date with Fred Coe to discuss the possibility of starring for him on Broadway in A Place of Silence.

I read where Melina Mercouri and her favorite director Jules Dassin were getting married on the 18th of this month. But I haven't read anywhere that Melina had obtained a divorce from her husband who lives in Athens.

20 Galaxies Checked

410 Miles a Second

Radio Proves Universe's Getaway

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Astronomers Wednesday heard a report supporting apparent evidence that most of the rest of the universe is hurrying away from us.

It supports a picture of an expanding universe. Harvard astronomers told the American Astronomical Society about studies they have made with the Harvard radio telescope, most powerful of all radio telescopes.

The Harvard instrument has been aimed at 20 galaxies—clouds of stars and hydrogen gas just like our own galaxy—whirling in space at an average distance of 10,000,000 light years from the earth. A light year is the distance light, speeding at 186,000 miles a second, will travel in one year. The 20 are a sampling of 1,000,000 or more "island universes" strung out through observable space.

All but one of the 20 are hurtling away from earth at speeds up to 410 miles a second. One is heading our way at 220 miles a second.

These flattened clouds of stars and gas are about 1,000 light years thick, and up to 100,000 light years in diameter. Our own Milky Way galaxy—a cloud of several hundred million stars plus hydrogen gas—is about 100,000 light years in diameter.

The astronomers found that the total hydrogen gas in each galaxy weighs about as much as 1,000,000,000 suns—even though there are only a few hydrogen atoms in a cubic inch of space.

The radio telescope 21-centimetre radio wave studies—tuned to the energy emitted by the hydrogen—agree well with the Doppler-effect studies made with visible light.

When an automobile with its horn blowing approaches you, its pitch sounds higher. When it goes away, the pitch sounds lower. This is an example of the Doppler effect. The same thing happens with light or radio waves from objects in space. When they recede from us, there is a relative lengthening of wave length, or red-shift. When they approach precisely with the relative change shown in optical studies with conventional telescopes. The finding is consistent with the theory that the universe is expanding.

At Oak Bay New Main Helps Water Pressure

Oak Bay is plugging along steadily on its waterworks program designed to keep the water pressure up despite greater use by an increasing population.

Public works department crews are now installing a 16-inch-diameter water main on Oak Bay Avenue from Hampshire Road to Newport Avenue as part of a new north-south trunk main from Lansdowne to Central Avenue.

This is the third year of a 12-year program and sections of the main are put in use as they are completed, said municipal engineer Geoffrey White.

In other parts of the municipality, a new water pump is expected to arrive any day for installation in the Uplands pump-house to keep pressure up during the summer.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM
 Also, a contractor started installing an automatic sprinkler system yesterday for one-third of the municipality's "tax households" where property owners pay an annual $15 to $20 front-end tax for the municipality to water, fertilize, cut and trim boulevard grass.

Work on the $23,000 project is being carried out on Midland Road, the north end of Beach Drive, Wilnot Place and the northern block of Oliver Street.

Music Festival

Great God Pan Lends Influence

By BERT BINNY

Yesterday was another day of huge activity at the Greater Victoria Music Festival. Instrumentalists, school choruses and speech artists were busy all day.

It was almost as if the mantle or, at least, the influence of the great god, Pan, had descended over Woods' Hall in the morning. Pan is reputed to have thought up woodwind instruments and yesterday's performers on the woodwinds gave impressive displays of the art.

Adjudicator Bert Christian awarded marks of 90 or more in three of the four classes; in one class, 18 and under, there were five marks over 90 in 14 competitors as well as an 88.

In the string classes a trio of Barbara Ann Court, Vivienne and Norman Abbott were awarded another 90 by adjudicator, Dr. Frank D'Andrea and the same high mark was won by Central Junior High School Girls' choir performing before adjudicator Dr. Wayne Hertz.

And, not to be outdone, youthful Angela Park secured a 90 in the speech arts division. Somewhat of a dark horse, Miss Park won the prose selection class, 12 and under, over at least one previous favorite.

The afternoon sessions were highlighted by some really exceptional violin playing by Barbara Ann Court, Vivienne Abbott and John Gomez.

They were described by Dr. D'Andrea as "very, very fine young artists."

Of the selections they played—from Mozart, Bach or Vivaldi—Dr. D'Andrea said "this was no small time music," and he commended both players and teachers for outstanding work.

And the grades awarded these competitors were sufficient evidence of their quality. Barbara Ann Court received 95 and 90, and Vivienne Abbott 90 while John Gomez won 95 and the festival's highest mark so far, 97.

John Gomez thus won the Musical Art Society bursary of $50.

Only five points separated the lowest and the highest mark obtained all afternoon at the speech arts classes and at the school chorus.

In the solo brass classes Keith Robertson scored a highly creditable 92 in the 18 and under section and Russell Ko came out on top of a class of 15 in the 14 and under with a 90.

In the school choruses Uplands received 91 in the composite choir class and 90 in the folk song class.

In the evening orchestras and high school bands were heard at Central Junior High School auditorium and, at the same time, there was both competition and an honor performance in speech arts at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall.

Recalled by adjudicator Dr. T. H. Kart for the speech arts honor performance were the Jimmy Cricket Kindergarten Grade 1 choir, Anne Perrins, Deborah Mason, Mt. Newton Junior Secondary School choir, Penny Tisdall, Bonnie-Jean Rutherford, Lawrence Eastick, Timothy Vernon and Pamela Stamford.

Today is the last day of competition in the schools section of the festival.

Crawford Clarke of Nanaimo will be busy judging the accordionists all day at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall—in the social room in the morning and in the auditorium afternoon and evening.

The only other session before the honor performance in the evening is for school string groups. These perform before Dr. D'Andrea in the morning at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall auditorium.

Four Cars Collide

DUNCAN—Four cars were involved in a collision at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Cowichan Bay Road but no one was seriously injured.

Police said drivers involved were Diane Hawkes and Lelkel Van Huizen of Duncan, F. F. Sloat of Nanaimo and Harold Turner of Victoria.

Driver of the first car, Diane Hawkes, had stopped behind two cars not involved in the mishap and the other three piled up behind.

Mrs. S. Vangel Dies in Duncan

DUNCAN—Mrs. Sophia Vangel died here in her 77th year. Born in Czechoslovakia she came to Fort William, Ont., in 1902 and moved to Winnipeg later. For the past 17 years she was a resident of Duncan.

Election On Way —John D

STRATHROY, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker Thursday night declared opposition obstruction in the Commons has stalled the government's legislative program and a general election cannot be long delayed.

He recalled that it was in Strathroy April 8, 1957—exactly five years ago—that he opened his campaign for the June election of that year.

Mr. Diefenbaker told an overflow Conservative nomination convention that the election would be held "in the very near future" and that "in the weeks to come" he would put his government's record before the people.

NANAIMO—Listing slightly and travelling at reduced speed, the B.C. Toll Authority ferry Mv. Chinook limped into a Vancouver drydock late yesterday after a harrowing eight hours on the rocks two miles out of Nanaimo harbor.

Inward bound from Horse shoe Bay on the mainland and carrying 68 passengers, 31

British 'Spy' Purge Likely

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers greeted with banner headlines Thursday the disclosure that Communists and Communist sympathizers have infiltrated civil service organizations. (See earlier story, Page 8.)

Some of the newspapers forecast a large-scale shake-up in Britain's security system.

The disclosure was made by the Radcliffe committee, set up after Britain's 1961 spy trials to investigate public security procedures. It said there was a deliberate massing of Communist effort in civil service trade unions.

THE MENACE

The Evening News headlines the report "the menace of Russian spies in Britain" and claims: "Russian spies are at work in Britain and are a constant menace to our security."

The newspaper adds: "The committee's recommendations must lead to one of the biggest-ever shake-ups of the security system."

The Evening Standard calls it a "Whitehall spying report sensation—biggest ever purge—watch on Reds in the unions."

MORE PURGE

The newspaper reports: "The biggest-ever peace-time anti-spionage operation is now on. There will be more purges—civil servants, more careful screening and extraordinary new precautions in Whitehall."

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror, under the headline "Watch on the Union Reds," says the Radcliffe committee's report had been ordered by the government for security reasons.

The Daily Telegraph and The Times also feature the report as their main story.

U.S. Has Hopes For Columbia After Election

Battle Smut Police Urged

City police should seek a conviction on a charge of selling obscene literature in Victoria, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said yesterday.

He made the recommendation in a letter to city health and morals committee.

"The city's hand would be much stronger if it were in a position to demonstrate that obscene literature was, in fact, being circulated through the mails," he wrote.

PROSECUTION USEFUL

"For this purpose I should think that a successful prosecution proving the existence of obscene literature in this city would be most useful."

At a recent meeting of the committee, Mr. O'Grady was asked to prepare a resolution aimed at the controlling of the sale of obscene literature to children.

PRIMARY DUTY

"The primary duty will be aware that it is an offence under the Criminal Code of Canada to sell obscene literature to any person, whether adult or child and in my letter of Feb. 13 I drew to the attention of the committee that it was the primary responsibility of the local police to enforce the law in this connection."

Mr. O'Grady asked the committee to explain what action it desired through submission of the resolution to the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

WASHINGTON (CP)—Brig.-Gen. William Lapsley, chief of the United States Army Engineers' North Pacific division, predicted Thursday the Columbia River controversy will be an issue in the next Canadian federal election and that "after that time we may have the issue settled."

He told a Senate subcommittee it is his understanding that the British Columbia Power Commission has undertaken some initial planning on the Columbia project and that to him indicated there is a good chance the Canada-U.S. treaty will go into operation once the political fight is over.

REASONABLE PERIOD

Lapsley told a reporter later he based his statements on informal information he received "and not as a principle in negotiations between the U.S. and Canadian governments."

Anticipating that a Canadian general election will be held before next March 30, Lapsley figured the treaty would be ratified in Canada within a "reasonable" period thereafter.

'Take It or Leave It' Kills Test-Ban Hope

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union's tough "take it or leave it" policy makes it impossible to conclude a nuclear test-ban treaty, United States Ambassador Arthur Dean said Thursday.

Dean told a three-power subcommittee meeting working on the test ban that negotiations are frozen but that the U.S. "is willing to wait hopefully" for a last-minute change in the Soviet attitude.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin, countered with a charge that U.S. plans to resume atmospheric testing in mid-Pacific late this month "had made the position darker." He said the Kremlin is willing to accept a moratorium on all tests while negotiations here continue.

NEW SHOTS

The Soviet Union has said it would set off a new series of shots of its own if the U.S. series takes place.

Despite the complete disagreement blocking the three nuclear powers, their representatives agreed to meet again Monday afternoon for yet another effort to resolve the deadlock. The U.S., Britain and the Soviet Union are sitting together as a subcommittee of the 17-nation general disarmament conference.

FLOOD WITH SPIES

Basically the disagreement revolves around this issue:

The U.S. and Britain insist that a treaty banning atomic and hydrogen weapon explosions must be enforced by an adequate international inspection and verification system. The Soviet Union maintains such a system would flood Russian territory with spies. The Soviet delegation insists that existing national instrument systems are adequate to see that there is no cheating on a test ban.

Master 'Spy' Dies in U.K.

EASTBOURNE, England (Reuters)—Sir Percy Sillitoe, former head of the British Secret Service, died Thursday night.

Sillitoe, 73, was head of the service—known as MI-6—from 1946 until 1963. He was described as the "No. 1 spy" and as "the most experienced policeman in the world."

British Cigarette Ads Held to Late-Hour TV

LONDON (Reuters)—Five major British tobacco firms announced Thursday they will no longer advertise on television before 9 p.m. in order to discourage children from smoking.

The five firms, the Imperial Tobacco Company, Ardath, Gallager, J. W. & Sons and Godfrey Phillips also agreed to discuss with the government the question of removing public vending machines which make cigarettes available to children.

A sixth firm, Carreras Rothmans (U.K.), a subsidiary of Rembrandt Tobacco Company of South Africa, said it will withdraw its vending machines from streets and public places to prevent children from buying cigarettes.

British law forbids the sale of cigarettes to children under 16, but outdoor dispensing machines make the law virtually impossible to enforce.

Carreras Rothmans also said it will ensure its TV advertising is limited to times when children are least likely to be viewing.

The moves by the tobacco firms followed a report by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons last month that said cigarette smoking was a major cause of lung cancer. The report sparked a government campaign to discourage smoking by children.

Tobacco Advertising Faces Ban in Italy

ROME (Reuters)—The Italian parliament gave final approval Thursday night to a bill outlawing tobacco advertising.

The bill forbids advertising of "any form of tobacco for smoking" whether Italian or foreign.

Nation Has Right to Defence Judge Lectures Ban-Bomber

NEW YORK (AP)—A magistrate told an anti-nuclear sit-down demonstrator Thursday the country has as much right as the individual to self defence.

"Would you defend yourself

if you were assaulted?" Magistrate Louis Cloutier asked Carl Jacobs, 22, of Manhattan, a college student.

Jacobs said, "yes, but—" Cloutier cut him off, saying "then why do you deny this right to your government?"

Jacobs and two other defendants, Jerome Capp, 25, a drug clerk, and David Seidler, 24, a copywriter, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges resulting from anti-nuclear street demonstrations here last month.

Move Rejected

Dutch Decide No Surrender

THE HAGUE (AP)—The Dutch government easily beat down Thursday an effort by the Labor party to promote surrender of West New Guinea to Indonesia, a militant claimant.

The lower house, backing arguments of Foreign Minister Luns, rejected Labor party motions for arrangements to transfer sovereignty over the Pacific island colony to the Indonesians and halt the shipment of Dutch military reinforcements.

U.S. EFFORT

The vote on each of the motions was identical, 90 to 47 against.

The parliamentary showdown came while the United States was trying to get Indonesia and The Netherlands to resume the secret, informal negotiations which broke off near Washington two weeks ago.

TALKS URGED

Dutch government sources said Ellsworth Runkle, the U.S. diplomat acting as third party, had submitted a proposed agenda and suggested that the talks begin again April 13.

Indonesian guerrilla forces were reported Thursday to be battling with Dutch troops near the oil town of Sorong on the northwest coast of West New Guinea.

Blast Links Nations Beneath Snowy Alps

SAINT RHEMY, Italy (AP)—Deep in the earth Italian and Swiss workers blasted away the last rock barrier of a new tunnel through the Alps Thursday. Millions throughout Europe watched the blast on TV. The tunnel, when ready for traffic late next year, is expected to open a way for greater commerce and European political unity.

The 3.7-mile tunnel passes under Grand St. Bernard Pass of the Mount Blanc chain between the Italian resort and Bourg St. Pierre, Switzerland.

Twelve miles west of here workers are digging the 6.9-mile Mount Blanc tunnel, expected to be ready next year. The tunnels will give an easy route through the Alps in winter when regular Alpine passes are snowbound.

Hotel Ship Picketed

SEATTLE (AP)—The first hotel ship for the Seattle world's fair arrived Thursday and was greeted with a picket line.

The pickets carried signs reading "Sa. Catala Unfair Sailors Union, Marine Firemen and Marine Cooks and Stewards."

Ed Coaster, Seattle agent of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, said the dispute centers over the use of shore-side union members to staff the Catala. "If she floats, she's a ship," Coaster said.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 200 words in length, and if signed with a pen-name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

It was not for introducing tobacco into England in 1565 that they beheaded Raleigh, but it might have been a better idea. The story goes that he told his short-sighted servant to fetch him a jug of ale and when he returned, Raleigh was enjoying his pipe of peace; something new he had picked up in the Americas. The varlet threw the ale all over his master, thinking him to be on fire.

Four centuries later the British Medical Association has laid it on the line that cigarette smoking is definitely the cause of lung cancer, with a clause to cut advertising the weeds.

We may expect the next step to statistically prove that all smoking puts nicotine into the blood stream as a possible basic cause of all cancer.

Homathko Power

There is a feeling of humility in invading a field so dominated by experts; however, as these seem to hold conflicting opinions, possibly a mere citizen's opinion on the power issue might be tolerated. Therefore may I suggest that a nearer-to-home and down-to-earth source of power is available to meet our immediate needs for some time to come without subsidization from either above or below our southern boundary.

The Homathko River system encloses a glacier and four good-sized lakes, which empty into Bute Inlet.

As a Sport, a Sin

I would like to make a complaint against a sin that is rampant throughout the world. This immorality is the making of the forms of fighting such as boxing, wrestling and judo into a sport.

I just don't think that God created the human being to make a sport out of two people slugging each other in the head or twisting each other's bodies. I don't believe that our Creator wanted the human being to love fighting and make it into a form of spectator entertainment.

Why do our churches preach against all forms of worldly pleasures and refuse to attack the most worldly pleasure of all, the love of fighting?

Boxing, wrestling, judo and any other kind of fighting are perfectly decent to learn as "self-defence" but I am sure that God never wanted us to make them into a form of athletic or spectator entertainment.

More Roads For Island Demanded

Several chambers of commerce want more and better highways and roads for Vancouver Island.

In fact, they'll be asking for roads all over the Island, in resolutions submitted to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island which starts its 44th annual meeting today at Parksville.

'FIRST PRIORITY'

The most ambitious road projects will be sought by the Campbell River and Port Alberni chambers.

Campbell River and District Chamber of Commerce submitted a resolution asking that the provincial government be petitioned by the ACCVI to give "first priority" to extension of the Island Highway north to Port Hardy in its 1962-63 program.

TOURIST HIGHWAY

Port Alberni and District Chamber wants road links to both the north and south portions of the Island. It would like to see a tourist highway from Port Renfrew to Bam-field and Port Alberni and a highway connecting Port Alberni and Alberni to Courtenay.

The Courtenay-Cornox Chamber wants improvements to the Island Highway at Waterloo Creek, from north of Union Bay to Gartley Beach, including replacement of the Oyster River and Tsable River bridges. It also hopes for an extension of Ryan Road to Highway 19.

Tofino Chamber of Commerce is asking that the Alberni-Tofino Road be brought up to highway standards and kept open to the public at all times.

Bamfield Chamber pressed only for the government to complete a road link to Port Alberni.

FERRY LINK

In addition to an Island Highway extension, the Campbell River Chamber will seek improvements and opening to the public of the Elk Valley-Gold River Road, a Campbell River to Powell River ferry link and rebuilding and blacktopping of main roads on Quadra Island.

The same group will press for elimination of dangerous corners at Oyster River and Hudson's Corner, paving of an extension of that road to Upper Campbell Lake and Buttle Lake.

Last Course Planned At Armory

The last of four civil defence training courses held in Greater Victoria this year will open on April 16, a spokesman for the militia here said yesterday.

A graduation parade for 33 trainees—less than 50 per cent of capacity for the course—was held yesterday at Bay Street Armory.

They were reviewed by Lt. Col. L. W. Johnson, commanding officer of 25 Militia Group. Officials expect an even further drop in enrolment in the final course and are gearing the program for a maximum of 70 recruits.

There has been no word from Ottawa whether the survival courses will be resumed this fall.

Strike Halted 83 Minutes Before Start

TORONTO (CP)—The bill to halt a strike by 8,300 Ontario Hydro employees was given royal assent at 10:37 Thursday night—83 minutes before the midnight-strike deadline.

Lieut-Gov. J. Kellier Mackay signed the bill in the legislature less than two hours after it had passed third reading.

After debating for more than three hours on the principle of the bill, the legislature had whipped through a clause-by-clause review and third reading.

Premier Robarts twice amended the bill at the suggestion of the New Democratic Party. One amendment will allow the government to pay the costs of the arbitrator and the other would limit the issues under arbitration to those not agreed on after appointment of a conciliator last Aug. 24, unless both sides agree to submit previously-decided issues to arbitration.

Psoriasis New "Break Through"

A new lotion, now appearing in Canadian drug stores shows great promise as a palliative for the skin condition known as psoriasis. The ingredients, among which is 5-Glyoxy-dinoid and a Pils Carbonis solution usually employed separately by skin specialists, combined, these chemicals have been brought together in a stainless, pleasant to use, economical lotion. It will be sold without prescription and marketed under the trade name of Psoranyl.

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Thursday that Canada will be denied full details of how foreign-owned corporations and subsidiaries carry on in this country if some opposition tactics continue in the Commons.

Speeches by Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) indicate that that member has political purposes in mind, Mr. Fulton said.

"I can certainly say that what is being done here now and what has been done for the last three days will, if continued, have the effect of depriving Canada of the benefits of an advantageous piece of legislation that would place the government for the first time in history in possession of full details as to how foreign-owned corporations and subsidiaries in Canada carry on their affairs."

In what amounted to a man-to-man Commons debate with Mr. Fulton, Mr. Howard continued to attack the financial disclosures bill.

Show-Window Farce Charged By Productivity Council Critic

VANCOUVER (CP)—The rift between organized labor and the federal government over the National Productivity Council was widened Thursday when Canada's biggest trade union condemned the council as a "show-window farce."

William Mahoney, National director of the 83,000-member United Steelworkers of America (CLC), blasted the federal government, the council, its industrialist chairman and one of its key members in an opening statement to the union's two-day policy conference here.

He contended that a study of productivity alone is no answer to Canada's economic problems—that "some temporary increase in productivity alone might actually damage our economy by increasing unemployment and thereby harming the home market which is needed as a base for any improved export market brought into being by more international trade."

His critical fire was another round in a series of recent developments that appear certain to bring labor's role on the 25-member productivity council to a head soon.

Mr. Mahoney attacked the council as an "ineffective substitute" for what organized labor really wants—a national economic-social advisory council, representing big labor, big business and other sections of the economic community.

NATIONAL WELFARE
"Labor is prepared to make sacrifices for the national welfare," said Mr. Mahoney.

"But those sacrifices must be made for the benefit of the community and not merely for the profit of some other individual interest."

Better Year Seen For Bargaining

VANCOUVER (CP)—The economic climate for collective bargaining in Canada "will be somewhat more favorable" in the year ahead than in the last five years, a leading union economist said Thursday.

Harry Waisglass, acting research director of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), made the forecast in his report on Canada's economy delivered

Thursday to the union's policy conference here.

He said export markets for iron ore, primary steel, nickel, copper, silver, aluminum and other primary metals are "quite strong" with metal prices in Canadian funds also improved.

Some further price increases may be expected as demand strengthens in some metal markets, he said.

COURTENAY—Police are warning parents here to be on the lookout for blasting caps which were taken from a Commonwealth Construction operation.

A total of 100 electric caps were taken and about 30 are still missing.

TURNED OVER
A number were found on the ground near the construction company's office and a youth found others and turned them over to his father.

RED WIRE
The caps consist of metal cylinders with red wire attached. They can be exploded by radio impulses without actual direct electrical contact.

Police testified they had been clocked at speeds up to 55 miles an hour in a 40 zone.

Outer Islands Boat Back from Overhaul

FULLFORD—Expected back on the islands and Fullford run this week is the Mv. Motor Princess. The vessel should be on route here today after overhaul in Victoria.

Next for drydock is the Mv. Delta Princess, which leaves Fullford on Monday for overhaul. The Mv. Cy Peck has been valiently carrying the load on the outer islands run during the absence of the larger ship.

Pulp Exports Sag Sharply

CHEMUNUS—Pulp exports from Crofton and Chemunus showed a sharp drop in March, compared with the same month last year.

Total tonnage last month was 5,387, compared with 9,299 in March, 1961.

A total of 2,600 tons of pulp-wood chips were shipped by ocean to the United States, an increase over the February figure of 1,178 tons.

Lumber exports from the two ports in March increased by over 12,000,000 board feet compared with the previous month and were up about 12,000,000 board feet from March 1961 according to records kept by the customs office. March shipments totalled 25,696,777 board feet compared with 13,380,333 board feet in February and 15,500,000 board feet a year ago.

Health Centre Opened

DUNCAN—Dignitaries from Duncan and North Cowichan, representatives from local service clubs and officials from the public health department attended the official opening of the $52,000 health centre on Canada Avenue Wednesday.

Named after pioneer local health worker Mrs. Margaret Ross, the new centre has been in operation for several months. The late Mrs. Ross founded the first local public health centre in 1920. In November 1960 Duncan Kinross spearheaded a drive to provide the new building and numerous service organizations contributed.

Last July construction began and three months ago the staff moved into the new structure.

Review Board Sought By Chamber

PORT ALBERNI—The Port Alberni District Chamber of Commerce will press for the establishment of a board of review which can reclassify for development private land which now is classified as "tree farm land."

A resolution to this effect will be presented for backing this weekend during the annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

It asks that the ACCVI make representation to the cabinet urging passing of legislation which could bring the board of review into existence.

DUNCAN—Organizers of the Cowichan Music Festival arranged a meeting for April 10, at 8 p.m. in the Cowichan senior secondary library to discuss problems which arose during the recent music festival. Any suggestions for improvement will be welcome.

Logger Shortage Reported As Job Position Improves

DUNCAN—The local Unemployment Insurance Commission reported the general employment situation during March was favorable and the number of unemployed male applicants decreased to 515 from 582 in February.

STABILITY SEEN
Last year in March the total was 768 applicants. Total of 203 female applicants were unemployed in March compared with 189 in February and 205 in March, 1961. Officials say increased use of new portable loading equipment, low inventories and contract negotiations all contributed to the stability of logging crews.

SHORTAGE GROWS
A shortage of loggers is already evident and it is expected to become acute during the next few weeks as all camps are returning to normal operations. A total of 70 tree planters were hired through the local office and officials expect these men will be employed until late June.

According to the Unemployment Insurance Commission the surplus of carpenters and construction laborers will be absorbed when the construction of a new newspaper mill at Crofton gets under way in May.

While a surplus of untrained hairdressers and domestic help exists, the shortage of experienced cooks and wait-

Union Beefs Resented In City Hall

Letters from two labor organizations made two city aldermen hot under the collar yesterday.

The first letter, from the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council, asked city council to let city contracts only to employers using union labor.

The second, from city hall's outside staff union—the Civic Employees' Protective Association, Local 90—registered "a strong protest" against council awarding the contract for repainting of city hall to a non-union contractor.

"We are dealing with public funds. I think anyone should be able to tender," Ald. Arthur Dowell said during a meeting of city lands committee.

"I would just like to know by what right the outside staff objects to what we do—if they can say this is not in the best interests of the city to do this," Ald. Rev. McLean asked.

"Are we compelled by any consideration, moral or otherwise, to go to a certain group to have a job done? We don't want to be partisan one way or another."

Ald. Dowell: "If we were just letting contracts to what you might call a selected group, we would come in for a great deal of criticism. I don't think it is right."

Ald. McLean: "I don't particularly like the idea of outside workers objecting without stating why they are objecting. . . . I don't believe in peace at any price, but perhaps it is a good motto after all."

Committee decided to reply to both letters that the contracting firm painting city hall is the holder of a city business licence and the owner of the firm is a city taxpayer.

"The committee feels it should not discriminate between any of the city's residents in spending tax money," the replies will indicate.

Evidence Under Debate

Should Dog Send Man To Prison or Gallows?

Five Judges to Study 36-Year-Old Ruling

By G. E. MORTIMORE

Should a dog be able to send a man to prison, or the gallows?

Five black-robed judges of the British Columbia Court of Appeal will consider this question when the court holds its first sitting in the new Victoria courthouse Monday.

The court will reopen the case of Reginald Dale Haas, who was acquitted of breaking and entering by an Assize

Court jury in Victoria last Oct. 13 after Mr. Justice Thomas Brown had ruled the evidence of a Royal Canadian Mounted Police tracking dog was not admissible.

Mr. Justice Brown based his decision on the 1926 Appeal Court case of Rex versus White, in which a new trial was ordered for an alleged murderer because evidence of tracking bloodhounds helped to convict him.

Split Three to Two

In 1926 five justices of the appeal court were split three to two. The majority opinion prevailed. It was for ruling out the bloodhounds' evidence and granting a new trial.

On Jan. 31 this year the crown placed the Haas case before the appeal court and asked the board to review the 1926 decision.

However, only three judges were on the bench at that time and they decided the matter was important enough to should be considered by five judges.

The court's decision will have far-reaching effects. Many Canadian police forces have been equipped with dogs in recent years.

A dog can't be brought to the witness stand for cross-questioning to find out whether or not his nose is telling the truth.

This was one of Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald's objections in 1926 to using the behavior of tracking dogs as evidence.

Hearsay Evidence

"The admission of such evidence is at best akin to hearsay evidence," he said in his reasons for judgment.

"The use of . . . dogs may be of assistance to the police to give them the clue to the identity of the offender, which, if obtained may be followed up by conventional proof of guilt, but evidence of the actions of the dogs themselves should find no place in a court of law."

Before the appeal court tackles the question of dogs' evidence on Monday, all eight judges of the court will sit on the bench for the opening of the new court.

They will probably hear a short address by Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald.

Then five of the eight judges will remain to consider the case of the tracking dog.

Deadlines in May

Two Area Chain Stores Redeem Trading Stamps

Shop-Easy and Super Valu stores in Greater Victoria are redeeming trading stamps on the basis of $2 worth of merchandise per book.

George Sargison, district manager for Shop-Easy, said the deadline for redeeming stamps for his company was May 23.

FOUR CENTS

Redemption value is four cents per page, or $2 per 50-page book of 1,500 stamps.

Stamps must be returned to the store from where they were obtained, he added. Customers of the Colwood Shop-Easy, which was gutted by fire last Sunday, will be able to redeem their stamps at a special office set up by the company at Colwood Plaza, which will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday.

Super Valu stamps are being redeemed on the same basis, but the deadline for returning stamps is four days earlier—May 19.

Business Tax Same

City finance committee decided yesterday to recommend the business tax should remain the same as last year.

The tax—4½ per cent of the assessed rental value of business premises—brought in $365,000 last year.

The tax is expected to bring in slightly more this year because of an increase in rental values downtown.

Super Valu stamps are being redeemed on the same basis, but the deadline for returning stamps is four days earlier—May 19.

NORTH COWICHAN—After council agreed in principle to spend $1,000 on the road leading to Maple Mountain Park, Reeve Donald Morton pointed out only nine years ago no provision was made in the municipality's budget for a parks program.

Mrs. Elaine Dobbyn, in her first year as councillor, told council she was very impressed by the six parks maintained in North Cowichan. Council also decided to prepare the Maple Beach Park for the advancing warm season and members agreed to have the Chemainus River Scouts look after the Fuller Lake Park for three months in the summer.

James Bay Move

New Parking Restrictions Aimed at Civil Servants

Wholesale parking restrictions around the legislative buildings were recommended to city council yesterday.

Council's streets traffic committee recommended the restrictions to city council in an attempt to solve complaints by James Bay residents that civil servants' cars prevent them from parking outside their own houses during the day.

Council will be asked to allow unrestricted parking on East side of Menzies Street from Belleville to Superior.

Both sides of Superior Street from Menzies to Government, and both sides of Michigan Street, from Menzies to Government.

The committee also recommended to council that one-hour parking should be implemented on:

Both sides of Belleville, Quebec, Kingston, Superior and Michigan between Oswego and Menzies; on the west side of Menzies between Superior and Michigan.

At present all the streets are restricted to two-hour parking between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele yesterday urged Esquimalt voters to reverse the trend of recent years and turn out in large numbers for Saturday's by-election.

THREE SEES SEAT

Three men are seeking the council seat vacated last month by the resignation of Coun. F. V. Rush. They are Walter Holder, 1011 Colville, a former councillor; D. L. Douglas, 1338 Wood, a union business agent; and Walter Lock, 939 Esquimalt, a butcher.

Polls will be open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, with those on section one of the voters' list casting their ballots at the municipal hall and those on section two at 855 Craigflower.

Officials of St. Joseph's Hospital have removed from the critical list David Schellenberg, 28, of 974 Bray, who fell eight storeys to the ground at a high-rise apartment Monday.

Schellenberg, who fell about 80 feet when a mechanical holist failed, is now reported in fair condition.

"He is talking," the spokesman said, "and very thankful to be in as good condition as he is."

The mishap occurred at the eighth floor level of a 12-storey high-rise apartment on Douglas Street.

Mr. Jones said he can't understand the hullabaloo about Foul Bay Road.

"No one protested when they changed Bird Cage Walk, and no one protested when they changed Foul Bay to Gonzales Bay."

His proposal, intended to shock the traditionalists into acceptance of the switch from Foul Bay to University Way, has apparently backfired, for it has already found a champion.

"A very nice name—it should never have been changed," said one-time city alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, 81.

"I think we should change Government Street back to Bird Cage Walk," he added.

Festival Adjudicator Upstaged by Dog

A dog stole the show at the Music Festival in Central Junior High School last night.

The pooch made a dramatic entrance from behind the stage curtains while chairman H. J. Higaby was introducing adjudicator Dr. Frank D'Andrea.

He befriended Dr. D'Andrea and was loudly applauded by the audience before he was cornered and taken from the building.

'No Disgrace.' But—

Case Closed On Hated Helmets

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood yesterday closed the Case of the Hated (Bobby) Helmets for 1962 with a resigned air and a word of praise for London police who still wear the helmets.

"I don't think we should spend taxpayers' money on hiring anybody to wear one," he said. "I just felt we might be able to find a regular policeman who would be willing to wear a bobby helmet during the tourist season as the helmets do lend a certain atmosphere to Victoria."

REQUEST REJECTED

Ald. Edgewood suggested the search for a policeman willing to wear a helmet at a recent public works meeting but Victoria police union rejected the request flatly.

STILL WEAR THEM

"British police still wear bobby helmets and they are acknowledged as among the finest police in the world," Ald. Edgewood said.

"They find the helmets neither ridiculous nor uncomfortable, so surely there is no disgrace to wear them."

Old Mishap Draws Hot Words

Hot asphalt which escaped from a railway tank car in the E&N marshalling yard in 1959, blocking a city storm drain, caused hot words at a city finance committee meeting yesterday.

Members of the committee indignantly rejected a recommendation by city solicitor T. P. O'Grady that the city accept $1,807.17 in settlement of the city's claim for damages totalling $3,614.24.

FAULTY VALVE

The asphalt escaped Sept. 12, 1959, because of a faulty valve on the tank car, Mr. O'Grady reported. It flowed into the storm drain system near Government and Chatham Streets and blocked the system when it solidified.

All members of the committee agreed it was not fair for the city to have to pay half the costs of digging the asphalt out of the storm drain system, and Mr. O'Grady was instructed to continue negotiations.

Blanshard Scheme

Road Relocation Cost Being Probed

City officials are preparing detailed estimates of what it would cost to buy 26 acres of built-up land southeast of the Fountain Circle, demolish all buildings and relocate Blanshard Street through the area.

MASTER PLAN

This was reported to a meeting of city council's urban renewal committee yesterday by city manager C. C. Wyatt, chairman of a special committee of experts who are carrying out work in connection with a master plan to revitalize blighted areas of Victoria.

Mr. Wyatt reported city assessor Alfred Joyce is preparing an estimate of what it would cost to buy all the property involved, and how much it would cost to tear down all the buildings.

City Seeks Money For Garages

Moves to borrow money to pay for construction of two off-street parking garages downtown were initiated yesterday by city comptroller-treasurer James Bramley.

On Mr. Bramley's recommendation, city finance committee instructed city solicitor T. P. O'Grady to prepare a special bylaw to give council the power to borrow money.

Mr. Bramley recommended temporary financing be arranged through a bank with debentures being issued on the completion of the work.

No amount was set by the committee.

Proposal Backfires

Rename Government?

Back to Bird Cage Walk

If the Foul Bay Road traditionalists have their way, Government Street should revert back to its original name, a native son said yesterday.

For the original name—Bird Cage Walk—syllable for syllable, was twice the ring of Ye Olde England atmosphere, says Aubrey Jones.

Mr. Jones, who was born on Bird Cage Walk, says the argument put forward by the Foul Bay Road preservationists that document problems would arise if the change went through is not valid.

"I didn't have to change my birth certificate or any other personal documents," he snorted.

"If they want to preserve all the old names, we should bring them all back—including Bird Cage Walk."

He said the same was tagged on the street because the old government buildings were nicknamed "the bird cages."

"I think there was a street with the same name in London and some wag tacked the name onto Government," he said.

The name stuck until around 1910, when the Cassenway was built. City fathers felt Government Street had a more dignified tone and had the name changed.

Mr. Jones said he can't understand the hullabaloo about Foul Bay Road.

"No one protested when they changed Bird Cage Walk, and no one protested when they changed Foul Bay to Gonzales Bay."

His proposal, intended to shock the traditionalists into acceptance of the switch from Foul Bay to University Way, has apparently backfired, for it has already found a champion.

"A very nice name—it should never have been changed," said one-time city alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, 81.

"I think we should change Government Street back to Bird Cage Walk," he added.

Election On Way —John D

STRAATHROY, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker Thursday night declared opposition abstention in the Commons has eliminated the government's legislative program and a general election cannot be long delayed.

He recalled that it was in Strathroy April 8, 1961—exactly five years ago—that he opened his campaign for the June election of that year.

Mr. Diefenbaker told an overflow Conservative advertising convention that the election would be held "in the very near future" and that "in the weeks to come" he would put his government's record before the people.

Her lifeboats hanging ready from davits, Chinook took on starboard list and water lapped around wheels of rearmost vehicles on car deck as receding tide left bow of vessel high and dry. Passengers were transferred through rear loading door to small boats and transferred again to Gabriola ferry Eena which took them to Nanaimo. Cars were turned over to their owners eight hours later.—(Pat O'Neil photo.)

Lifted by Tide Near Nanaimo

Grounded B.C. Ferry Limps Into Vancouver

NANAIMO—Listing slightly and travelling at reduced speed, the B.C. Toll Authority ferry Mr. Chinook limped into a Vancouver drydock late yesterday after a harrowing eight hours on the rocks two miles out of Nanaimo harbor.

Inward bound from Horseshoe Bay on the mainland and carrying 68 passengers, 31

cars and 10 trucks, the 4,000-ton former Black Ball vessel slammed into Snake Island at 9:37 a.m. in heavy fog. The Chinook struck on a falling tide and her position on the reef became precarious by the minute. Moderate seas increased her danger but the crew remained on board making preparations to get her off on the next flood.

There were no injuries among passengers or crew but the vessel was reported badly holed on her outer hull and with ruptured fuel tanks.

Passengers were transferred to small boats which sped to the scene from Nanaimo and most were put aboard the government-owned Gabriola Island ferry Eena and taken to the toll authority docks here.

RADAR REMOVED

Toll authority officials confirmed in Victoria yesterday that the Chinook's radar had been removed from the ship during a recent refit because it was defective and could not be repaired aboard the vessel.

While tugs stood by at the rise of the tide about 5:20 p.m., the Chinook ground sluggishly into motion and backed off the treacherous reef under her own power and hailed the feat with three sharp toots on her whistle.

Most passengers agreed the grounding came without a violent shock. They sang high praise for the Chinook's captain and crew for their actions following the impact. Many considered the event a lark.

MOOD CHANGED

But their mood changed when a Nanaimo ferry official told them the toll authority would contribute nothing towards their welfare while they waited some eight hours for delivery of their still-stranded motor vehicles.

They were told they would have to pay their own meals, said the official. "We fulfilled our commitment by landing you in Nanaimo—we are under no obligation to go any further."

UNUSUAL SITUATION

Speaking from Vancouver last night, government ferry service general manager Monty Aldous termed grounding of the Chinook "an unusual situation."

He said it probably won't happen again.

The grounding had its lighter side, however.

SAFETY REMAIN

It completely broke up a shipboard session on marine safety being conducted by a ship's officer and 20 of her crew. The group had just completed an examination and certificates were being handed out.

"The examining officer had just handed me my certificate when the bump came," said crewman Val Scovill later.

The officer said "what's continued on Page 7"

British 'Spy' Purge Likely

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers greeted with banner headlines Thursday the disclosure that Communists and Communist sympathizers have infiltrated civil service organizations. (See earlier story, Page 8.)

Some of the newspapers forecast a large-scale shake-up in Britain's security system.

The disclosure was made by the Radcliffe committee, set up after Britain's 1961 spy trials to investigate public security procedures. It said there was a deliberate massing of Communist effort in civil service trade unions.

THE MENACE

The Evening News headlines the report "the menace of Russian spies in Britain" and claims: "Russian spies are at work in Britain and are a constant menace to our security."

The newspaper adds: "The committee's recommendations must lead to one of the biggest-ever shake-ups of the security system."

The Evening Standard calls it a "Whitehall spying report sensation—biggest ever purge—watch on Reds in the unions."

MOORE PURGES

The newspaper reports: "The biggest—ever peace-time anti-spionage operation is now on. There will be more purges among civil servants, more extensive screening and extraordinary new precautions in Whitehall."

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror, under the headline "Watch on the Union Reds," says the Radcliffe committee's report had been censored by the government for security reasons.

The Daily Telegraph and The Times also feature the report as their main story.

U.S. Prediction

River Pact After Poll

Battle Smut Police Urged

City police should seek a conviction on a charge of selling obscene literature in Victoria, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said yesterday.

He made the recommendation in a letter to city health and morals committee.

"... The city's hand would be much stronger if it were in a position to demonstrate that obscene literature was, in fact, being circulated through the mails," he wrote.

PROSECUTION USEFUL

"For this purpose I should think that a successful prosecution proving the existence of obscene literature in this city would be most useful."

At a recent meeting of the committee, Mr. O'Grady was asked to prepare a resolution aimed at the controlling of the sale of obscene literature to children.

PRIMARY DUTY

"The committee will be aware that it is an offence under the Criminal Code of Canada to sell obscene literature to any person whether adult or child and in my letter of Feb. 13 I drew to the attention of the committee that it was the primary responsibility of the local police to enforce the law in this connection."

River Pilots Leave Jobs

MONTREAL (CP)—Some 270 members of the St. Lawrence River Pilots' Association walked off their jobs early today to back up their claims that the federal department of transport and the Canadian Shipping Federation are using delaying tactics in negotiating for better working conditions for the pilots.

WASHINGTON (CP)—Brig.-Gen. William Lapaley, chief of the United States Army Engineers' North Pacific division, predicted Thursday the Columbia River controversy will be an issue in the next Canadian federal election and that "after that time we may have the issue settled."

He told a Senate subcommittee it is his understanding that the British Columbia Power Commission has undertaken some initial planning on the Columbia project and that to him indicated there is a good chance the Canada-U.S. treaty will go into operation once the political fight is over.

Lapaley told a reporter later he based his statements on informal information he received. Anticipating that a Canadian general election will be held before next March 30, Lapaley figured the treaty would be ratified in Canada within a "reasonable" period thereafter.

'Take It or Leave It' Kills Test-Ban Hope

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union's tough "take it or leave it" policy makes it impossible to conclude a nuclear test-ban treaty, United States Ambassador Arthur Dean said Thursday.

Dean told a three-power subcommittee meeting working on the test ban that negotiations are frozen but that the U.S. "is willing to wait hopefully" for a last-minute change in the Soviet attitude.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin countered with a charge that U.S. plans to resume atmospheric testing in mid-Pacific late this month "had made the position darker." He said the Kremlin is willing to accept a moratorium on all tests while negotiations here continue.

NEW SHOTS

The Soviet Union has said it would set off a new series of shots of its own if the U.S. series takes place.

Despite the complete disagreement blocking the three nuclear powers, their representatives agreed to meet again Monday afternoon for yet another effort to resolve the deadlock. The U.S., Britain and the Soviet Union are sitting together as a subcommittee of the 17-nation general disarmament conference.

FLOOD WITH SPIES

Basically the disagreement revolves around this issue:

The U.S. and Britain insist that a treaty banning atomic and hydrogen weapon explosions must be enforced by an adequate international inspection and verification system. The Soviet Union maintains such a system would flood Russian territory with spies. The Soviet delegation insists that existing national instrument systems are adequate to see that there is no cheating on a test ban.

Master 'Spy' Dies in U.K.

EASTBOURNE, England (Reuters)—Sir Percy Sillitoe, former head of the British Secret Service, died Thursday night.

Sillitoe, 73, was head of the service—known as MI-6—from 1944 until 1953. He was described at the time as "the most experienced policeman in the world."

British Cigarette Ads Held to Late-Hour TV

LONDON (Reuters)—Five major British tobacco firms announced Thursday they will no longer advertise on television before 9 p.m. in order to discourage children from smoking.

The five firms, the Imperial Tobacco Company, Ardath, Gallagher, J. Wix and Sons and Godfrey Phillips also agreed to discuss with the government the question of removing public vending machines which make cigarettes available to children.

A sixth firm, Carreras Rothmans (U.K.), a subsidiary of Rembrandt Tobacco Company of South Africa, said it will withdraw its vending machines from streets and public places to prevent children from buying cigarettes.

British law forbids the sale of cigarettes to children under 16, but outdoor dispensing machines make the law virtually impossible to enforce.

Carreras Rothmans also said

This poster is one of three being used by British government in anti-cigarette-smoking campaign.

Tobacco Advertising Faces Ban in Italy

ROME (Reuters)—The Italian parliament gave final approval Thursday night to a bill outlawing tobacco advertising.

The bill forbids advertising of "any form of tobacco for smoking" whether Italian or foreign.

Nation Has Right to Defence Judge Lectures Ban-Bomber

NEW YORK (AP)—A magistrate told an anti-nuclear sit-down demonstrator Thursday the country has as much right as the individual to self defence.

"Would you defend yourself

if you were assaulted?" Magistrate Louis Cluff asked Carl Jacobs, 22, of Manhattan, a college student.

Jacobs said, "Yes, but..."

Cluff cut him off, saying "then why do you deny this right to your government?"

Jacobs and two other defendants, Jerome Capp, 26, a drug clerk, and David Seidler, 24, a copywriter, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges resulting from anti-nuclear street demonstrations here last month.

Move Rejected

Dutch Decide No Surrender

THE HAGUE (AP)—The Dutch government easily beat down Thursday an effort by the Labor party to promote surrender of West New Guinea to Indonesia, a militant claimant.

The lower house, backing arguments of Foreign Minister Lans, rejected Labor party motions for arrangements to transfer sovereignty over the Pacific island colony to the Indonesians and halt the shipment of Dutch military reinforcements.

U.S. EFFORT

The vote on each of the motions was identical, 30 to 47 against.

The parliamentary showdown came while the United States was trying to get Indonesia and The Netherlands to resume the secret, informal negotiations which broke off near Washington two weeks ago.

TALKS URGED

Dutch government sources said Ellsworth Bunker, the U.S. diplomat acting as third party, had submitted a proposed agenda and suggested that the talks begin again April 13.

Indonesian guerrilla forces were reported Thursday to be battling with Dutch troops near the oil town of Sorong on the northwest coast of West New Guinea.

Blast Links Nations Beneath Snowy Alps

SAINT REMY, Italy (AP)—Deep in the earth Italian and Swiss workers blasted away the last rock barrier of a new tunnel through the Alps Thursday. Millions throughout Europe watched the blast on TV. The tunnel, when ready for traffic late next year, is expected to open a way for greater commerce and European political unity.

The 3.7-mile tunnel passes under Grand St. Bernard Pass of the Mount Blanc chain between the Italian resort and Bourg St. Pierre, Switzerland.

Twelve miles west of here workers are digging the 6.5-mile Mount Blanc tunnel, expected to be ready next year. The tunnels will give an easy route through the Alps in winter when regular Alpine passes are snowbound.

Hotel Ship Picketed

SEATTLE (AP)—The first hotel ship for the Seattle world's-fair arrived Thursday and was greeted with a picket line.

The pickets carried signs reading "Sa. Catala Unfair Sailors Union, Marine Firemen and Marine Cooks and Stewards."

"Ed Coester, Seattle agent of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, said the dispute centres over the use of shore-side union members to staff the Catala. "If the floats, she's a ship," Coester said.
